JFK Draws Line On Cuba

Senate Okays Reserve Callup Bill

Moves Against Castro Shunted To Committees

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Senate Thursday quickly and unanimously approved President Kennedy's request for standby authority to call up 150,000 reserves to meet possible crisis in Cuba, Berlin or elsewhere. The vote was 76 to 0.

At the same time, both the Senate and House went to work on separate proposals affirming U.S. determination to fight if necessary to block any Cuban aggression throughout the Western Hemisphere.

Moving with near wartime speed, the Senate passed its reserve callup bill and sent it to the House after deciding to give its appropriate committees one week in which to draft a Cuba fight-if-necessary declaration. The committees will consider various proposals submitted by a number of senators.

Proposal Introduced In House

Shortly afterward, Chairman Carl Vinson, D-Ga., of the Armed Services Committee, and Chairman Thomas P. Morgan, D-Pa., of the Foreign Affairs Committee, introduced a similar Cuba proposal in the House.

The Vinson-Morgan proposal would affirm and endorse the President's right to act against Cuban aggression by whatever means necessary, including use of arms.

The Senate passed its reserve callup measure after Chairman Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., said it would give the President "a shotgun behind the door" to thwart any Cuban moves against other American countries.

Two Hours Of Debate

The Senate passed the reserve measure after a scant two hours debate. Besides providing for the reserve call-up, it would authorize the President to extend enlistments or other tours of service for one year to meet any crisis.

The President sought the authority to strengthen his hand while Congress, now nearing adjournment, will be out of Washington. The authority would expire next Feb. 28, several weeks after the new Congress convenes.

The way was cleared for speedy approval of the reserve resolution when the Senate decided to send to the joint armed services — Foreign Relations Committee a batch of fight-if-necessary declarations aimed at Fidel Castro's Cuba.

The committee will study the various declarations and submit its version next Thursday.

Kennedy Deplores Racial Terrorism

Burning Of Negro Church 'Outrageous'

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Kennedy said Thursday acts of terrorism in the south against Negroes were both "cowardly and outrageous."

He told his news conference that "I don't know anything more outrageous than to burn a church," such as occurred a few days ago in Georgia.

The President was asked about his views of recent acts against Negroes and what the government is doing and plans to do to protect their rights.

Referring to a shooting in Mississippi where Negroes were seeking to register to vote, Kennedy called this deplorable.

"The right to vote is very basic," Kennedy said. "If we neglect it all talk about freedom is hollow."

He said the protection of both state and federal authorities should be given to each person seeking to register to vote. He said he was in frequent contact with government agents in the South and perpetrators of recent acts of terrorism against eligible Negro voters would be sought out and dealt with accordingly.

Kennedy Contacts King

Kennedy said he was in contact with Southern desegregation leader Martin Luther King, leader of a major Negro effort in Albany, Ga., over ways to insure that the demonstrators are not denied their constitutional rights.

Other highlights of the news conference:

—Kennedy declared that the United States would not allow Cuba to become an "offensive military base" for the Soviet Union in the Western Hemisphere. He said this country would "do whatever must be done to block such a situation."

—He said the United States has a long-term commitment in West Berlin, and it will not be affected by the outcome of the congressional elections in November. There is no political division within this country over Berlin, he said.

—The President said the decision to continue the Pacific atmospheric nuclear tests was made partially because of the explosion on the pad and communications failures in an earlier attempt. He said this left some of the "most important" shots in the series still to be completed.

Lower Altitude, Lower Yield

—He emphasized that the new series would be carried out at a lower altitude and with lower yields than the one which created a band of radiation around the earth. He said this step was being taken to make sure none of the tests would interfere with future space flights.

—Asked if there was any indication from Russia that it was willing to cooperate in the peaceful development of space, Kennedy said no. However, he noted that NASA Director Hugh Dryden had broached the subject to the Russians at Geneva. He said on the basis of Dryden's talks, there was "limited progress," but he was hoping for more in the future.

—The President said the United States has no plans to sell or permit the export of U2 reconnaissance planes to other countries. He said a sale of U2 aircraft in July 1960 to Nationalist China by the manufacturer, Lockheed Aircraft Corp., was the only instance of the planes being sold or exported to another country.

Freeman Hits Charges Estes Was Favored

WASHINGTON (AP) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman sharply challenged Republican charges Billie Sol Estes received favored treatment in his farm aid dealings.

Freeman told House investigators Thursday an Agriculture Department inquiry has borne out earlier statements that Estes, a Pecos, Tex., promoter, was treated like any other farmer. And he advised the congressmen that a career employe demoted when the Estes affair first became known has been returned to his old job.

Freeman, appearing before a House Government Operations subcommittee, spent most of the day reading a 48-page prepared statement.

The House group is investigating whether favored treatment was involved in government handling of the promoter's grain storage operations.

The Senate Investigations subcommittee questioned N. Battle Hales, an Agriculture Department employe, further on his charges that top officials in the department favored Estes in his cotton deals, then tried to bail him out of trouble just before his fiscal empire collapsed last March.

Estes faces fraud charges growing out of the alleged sale of phony mortgages on nonexistent fertilizer tanks.

Following an extensive investigation, Freeman said, Carl J. Miller, a 25-year veteran in the department, had been reinstated as chief of the U.S. Warehouse Act branch of the department's marketing service. The post pays $13,250 a year.

Miller had first tried to increase Estes' grain bond from $700,000 to $1 million, then abandoned the effort in January 1961 when Estes produced a net-worth statement—later proved to be false—showing assets far in excess of the amount required to keep the bond at $700,000.

Farmers Mass In Bid To Spur Market Boycott

CHICAGO (UPI) — Farmers massed by the thousands at Midwestern livestock markets Thursday in a show of strength to spur a corn belt rebellion against low farm prices.

The farmers, members of the militant National Farmers Organization, milled around in the stockyards, listened to exhortations not to "chicken out" in their market boycott and kept tab on cattle and hogs arriving for sale.

Police said the demonstrations were orderly and there was no formal picketing.

Gilbert Novotny, president of the stockyards company at East St. Louis, Ill., called it a "typical, secretive, harassing action by the NFO."

More than 500 NFO members gathered at Sioux City, Iowa, about 500 each at Indianapolis, Ind., and East St. Louis, Ill., and 200 each at Kansas City, Mo., and Omaha, Neb. Scores more farmers than usual showed up at the Chicago yards.

Police beefed up their stockyards details at most of the yards to guard against outbreaks of violence between the rebelling farmers and neighbors who have kept on shipping animals to market.

Col. Hugh H. Waggoner, superintendent of the Missouri Highway Patrol, said he planned to tour the northwest part of the state to check reports of gunfire, a barn burning, fence cuttings and the stopping of market-bound trucks.

Fountain Foamer Pays $100 Fine

PITTSBURGH (UPI) — Joseph C. Ryan, 37, of Rockville, Md., vowed Thursday that he has washed his hands of any future slick tricks after being arrested for dumping hair shampoo into a fountain here.

Ryan, who described himself as an application engineer, paid $100 for foaming the fountain in Mellon Square Park. A special patrolman assigned to the park to keep an eye out for fountain foamers, seized Ryan Wednesday night.

Socialite Serving Work House Term

NEW YORK (AP) — Socially prominent Chance M. Vought Jr. was in the Hart Island work house Thursday for failure to post a $10,920 bond in a legal tussle over delinquent support payments to his estranged wife and two children.

Vought, of an aircraft pioneering family, was ordered to serve a six-month sentence in lieu of the bond which his estranged wife Eugenie Kobryn Vought, said represents back support payments.

Soblen's Death Still Mystery

LONDON (AP)—British government witnesses told a coroner Thursday the cause of Robert A. Soblen's death is still a mystery, and so is the source of a sleeping potion which put him into his final coma.

Both Dr. Donald Teare, a government pathologist; and James Mackay, detective superintendent of Scotland Yard, said they would need more time to carry on their inquiries about the 61-year-old psychiatrist who faced a life term in the United States as a Soviet spy.

The coroner, Dr. Harold G. Broadridge, adjourned the inquest until Oct. 4. He said he wlodu grant a further adjournment then if the government experts had still not completed their investigations.

Apart from Dr. Teare and Mackay, the only witness at the brief hearing was the fugitive's wife, Dina. She identified the dead man as her husband.

Soblen died Tuesday, five days after collapsing from a barbiturate overdose in an ambulance taking him from Brixton Prison to a New York-bound airliner at London airport.

Congress Hoping To Quit October 5

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders now figure Congress can adjourn Friday, Oct. 5, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, said Thursday after a White House conference of the group.

That would give the members a full month to campaign back home before election day.

Surprise Paris Dinner 'Enchantment' To Wife

PARIS (AP) — "An enchantment."

That's how shy Phyllis Phillips described on Thursday her loving husband's big surprise for their 20th wedding anniversary—dinner in Paris.

Phillips, a printer for the Findlay, Ohio, Republican-Courier, let his 42-year-old wife in on the secret journey he had planned only after they left New York Wednesday by airliner for what he had told her was a trip to Iceland.

Like the "darned good wife" he says she is, Mrs. Phillips didn't bother to question—why Iceland?

Getting the details high above the Atlantic, she was excited.

But like a "darned good wife," she seemed well in command as the airliner touched down in Luxembourg.

Even though the airliner was 90 minutes behind schedule, she found time for a sightseeing trip of the grand duchy's capital. Then the couple boarded a Paris-bound train.

"We are tremendously excited to see Paris in the fall," she said. "This has always been our dream. It's the first time we've been to Europe."

And like a "darned good mother," she still had her thoughts about her two children back home, Michael, 16, and Monday, 12, who had been let in on the secret Dad planned. They are staying with relatives in Ohio.

"We are due back in the United States on Sunday," Mrs. Phillips said.

Macmillan Lobbies For Common Market

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan launched an informal and highly personal attempt Thursday to sell his Common Market policies to the critical prime ministers of the Commonwealth.

Macmillan now has a great personal stake in the issue. His continuation as Britain's prime minister could turn on whether he can successfully defend his plan to link Britain with the six-nation European trade grouping.

Surprisingly, Macmillan absented himself from his morning Cabinet meeting to lobby for his policies among the Commonwealth leaders.

Kennedy Names Board To Study Boeing Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy acted Thursday to head off a possible weekend strike by 45,000 machinists employed by Boeing Co., another labor-troubled missile and space equipment producer for the government.

The President appointed a three-man board to study the stalemated Boeing labor contract dispute and recommend settlement terms. The present contract expires Saturday but the machinists union is expected to hold off any walkout until after the board can report.

Kennedy, in notifying Boeing and the union of his action, took occasion to stress again, for the second time in three days, that strikes in such vital space and missile work would be contrary to the public interest. Boeing produced the Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile.

Boeing operates plants around Seattle, Wash.; one at Wichita, Kan., and is working on a number of key missile sites, including Cape Canaveral, Fla., all of which could be affected by any strike.

The government is worried about strike threats Sept. 22 at the missile, space and plane-making plants of Lockheed, North American, Convair and Ryan, employing over 100,000 workers.

A board named by Kennedy in late July has recommended these firms grant the machinists and auto unions, both affiliated with the AFL-CIO, the union shop, an arrangement requiring all plant employes to be union members. At present the unions have the plants only partly organized.

Kennedy picked Saul Wallen, 52, veteran arbitrator and labor lecturer at Harvard University, as chairman of the new board to work on the Boeing dispute. Wallen is a former president of the National Academy of Arbitrators.

Four Killed In Fiery Crash Of Small Plane

NORWALK, Ohio (UPI) — A private airplane crashed near a busy interchange of the Ohio Turnpike Thursday and burst into flames upon impact, killing all four persons aboard.

Authorities said the single-engine Cessna plane crashed on the first turn after takeoff, about one-fourth of a mile west of the Norwalk-Sandusky Interchange. The plans was believed to have taken off from a private airstrip at a motel near the interchange.

Authorities said the plane was registered to John A. Sheldon of Rocky River, Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland. Sheldon is an engineer in the Electric Propulsion Division of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The victims were identified as Sheldon, owner - pilot; Allen J. Cairns, 20, Akron; Ernest T. Bialek, 23, Lakewood, and his wife, Janet.

New Procedure Detects Kidney, Bladder Cancer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—An unprecedented new procedure for early detection of cancers of kidney and bladder, which is expected to save many lives, was announced Thursday by the Harvard Medical School.

The test, the announcement said can reveal the presence of cancer before clinical symptoms become evident or, in many instances, suspected.

The announcement described the test as the simplest possible screening procedure, disclosing any increase and activity of a zinc enzyme in the urine of presumably symptom-free persons.

Urinary cancers are notorious for their silence or lack of evidence of early symptoms, and as a result, nearly 50 per cent are recognized only when it is too late for curative therapy, the report said.

India, Peiping Swap Charges

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India and Red China accused each other Thursday of making new advances across the tense border near the mountainous Himalayan trail taken by the Dalai Lama in his escape from Tibet. There were no reports of shooting.

Prime Minister Nehru's government said a detachment of Chinese Communist troops appears to have crossed Tuesday into northeast India.

The Chinese incursion was reported just east of the Buddhist protectorate of Bhutan, which India has pledged to defend.

The Nehru government tended to play down the incident despite unofficial reports that an Indian outpost had been surrounded by a Chinese force outnumbering it 10 to 1.

Peiping's New China News Agency countered with a charge Indian troops had set up a new "agressive strong point" in Tibet. "This marks a new development in nibbling of Chinese territory," the agency said.

House Told U. N. Must Have Loan Or Leave Congo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Nations will have to pull its troops out of the Congo in a few weeks unless it receives a substantial loan at once, the House was told Thursday.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, urged the House to face "this fundamental fact" in voting on a bill to authorize a $100-million loan to the United Nations by the United States.

The vote on the controversial bill, which has already passed the Senate in slightly different form, will come Friday.

Debate Thursday disclosed strong opposition to the bill, mainly from Republicans. They centered their attack on the long list of nations which are delinquent in their U.N. assessments, and on current U.N. operations in the Congo.

The loan authorized by the bill would go to help meet the cost of the U.N. peace-keeping efforts in the Congo, and along the Israeli-Egyptian border.

Even some speakers who voiced support of the bill expressed distaste for what they called efforts by the United Nations to force the secessionist province of Katanga into joining the central government of the Congo.

Morgan, however, declared the maintenance of U.N. troops in the Congo is the only alternative to Soviet penetration of central Africa.

Celia Whips Atlantic With 60-MPH Winds

MIAMI (UPI)—Tropical storm Celia kicked up 60-mile-an-hour winds over the open Atlantic Thursday night while moving along a course that will route it safely past the Leeward Islands, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

A 6 p.m. EDT advisory said Celia should pass about 150 miles north of the islands and 175 to 200 miles north of Puerto Rico during the weekend. The storm's weakest winds were on its southern side.

The advisory located Ceila, third tropical storm of the season, about 1,800 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Heroic Navy Pilot, Eight Others Perish In Crash

SEAL BEACH, Calif. (AP)—"It was an act of heroism. The pilot must have known he was turning toward almost certain death."

Thus a Navy spokesman described the maneuver—turning to a perilous course from a safer one — of a pilot who guided his plane away from a residential area, then died with eight others when it crashed.

The Navy P2V Neptune patrol bomber skimmed above the rooftops of a retirement community, "Leisure World," at nearby Rossmoor on Wednesday night, then crashed in a field between ammunition bunkers at Seal Beach Net and Ammunition Depot.

A left engine burst into flames as the craft took off from Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, where a Reserve squadron from Georgia has been training since Sept. 4. The pilot, Lt. Cmdr. Arthur William Knighten, 38, was a telephone company accounting manager at Charlotte, N. C.

"There is no doubt that the pilot turned toward the flaming engine, causing his whole plane to be engulfed," said Cmdr. Thomas H. Moriarty, administrative officer of the squadron.

"Normal procedure in such an emergency is to turn away from the direction of the flames. The only reason for turning into the flames was to avoid crashing into the populated areas."

A board of inquiry sought Thursday to learn the cause of the fire.

U. S. To Act If Security Threatened

Intervention Not Yet Justified But Nation 'Alert And Capable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy declared Thursday the United States will be "alert and fully capable" to deal with any offensive threat from Soviet-backed Cuba against the United States or any country in this hemisphere.

At the same time he appealed to the American people "to keep both their nerve and their head."

The President told a news conference that he has full power as commander in chief of U. S. armed forces to take any action which may become necessary.

He warned the Communists against threatening or using force against the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo, the Panama Canal, the Cape Canaveral rocket base or the lives of American citizens in this country or any nation in this hemisphere.

But in a carefully weighed and prepared statement he also said that recent Soviet arms shipments to Cuba do not present a threat to this country. And he declared emphatically that unilateral U. S. intervention in Cuba at present is not justified.

Surveillance Increased

He pledged, however, that "we shall be alert and fully capable" to deal with any dangerous change in the situation. This country, he said, is increasing its surveillance in the Caribbean.

The President opened a news conference with a lengthy statement on the Cuban situation.

He said there has been a great deal of talk about that situation "both in the Communist camp and our own."

Asserting then that it is Castro and his supporters who are in trouble, he said the regime is isolated in the hemisphere, condemned by the OAS, excluded from the Inter-American Defense Board and kept out of the free trade organization, industries are stagnating, harvests are declining and Castro's own supporters are seeing the promise of the revolution betrayed.

It is not surprising, the President went on, that Castro is raising the threat of an American intervention.

Soviet Personnel Increase

Movement of Soviet personnel to the island has increased, Kennedy said, and is under careful surveillance by this country.

If the United States ever finds it necessary to intervene, he said, all the imported technicians would not alter the result.

He said he had already stated that the buildup of Soviet personnel in Cuba does not yet represent a threat of aggression to the rest of the hemisphere.

But if the buildup should ever become a potential base for aggression, the United States will move swiftly and effectively to take whatever action is necessary, he said.

"We shall neither initiate nor permit aggression in this hemisphere," the President pledged.

Unilateral military action by the United States cannot be justified at this time and is not required, Kennedy said. He added that it was unfortunate that such talk was being heard in this country.

Already Has Authority To Act

He stressed that if, at any time, Cuba posed a threat to the United States — particularly along the Florida coast, including Cape Canaveral — then the United States would do "whatever must be done" to protect U. S. security.

He said as President and commander in chief he already has the authority to take whatever action he feels necessary.

He said the United States will be making further proposals to "our friends in the Organization of American States."

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization also will be kept advised, he said, and this country will continue to work with Cuban exiles working for restoration of their country's freedom.

Congress and the people of the United States also will be kept posted, he said.

But he said the record should be clear that the only people talking about a war now are the Communist spokesmen in Moscow and Havana.

Congress Hoping To Quit October 5

WASHINGTON (AP) — Democratic leaders now figure Congress can adjourn Friday, Oct. 5, Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota, said Thursday after a White House conference of the group.

That would give the members a full month to campaign back home before election day.

Surprise Paris Dinner 'Enchantment' To Wife

PARIS (AP) — "An enchantment."

That's how shy Phyllis Phillips described on Thursday her loving husband's big surprise for their 20th wedding anniversary—dinner in Paris.

Phillips, a printer for the Findlay, Ohio, Republican-Courier, let his 42-year-old wife in on the secret journey he had planned only after they left New York Wednesday by airliner for what he had told her was a trip to Iceland.

Like the "darned good wife" he says she is, Mrs. Phillips didn't bother to question—why Iceland?

Getting the details high above the Atlantic, she was excited.

But like a "darned good wife," she seemed well in command as the airliner touched down in Luxembourg.

Even though the airliner was 90 minutes behind schedule, she found time for a sightseeing trip of the grand duchy's capital. Then the couple boarded a Paris-bound train.

"We are tremendously excited to see Paris in the fall," she said. "This has always been our dream. It's the first time we've been to Europe."

And like a "darned good mother," she still had her thoughts about her two children back home, Michael, 16, and Monday, 12, who had been let in on the secret Dad planned. They are staying with relatives in Ohio.

"We are due back in the United States on Sunday," Mrs. Phillips said.

Macmillan Lobbies For Common Market

LONDON (AP)—Prime Minister Harold Macmillan launched an informal and highly personal attempt Thursday to sell his Common Market policies to the critical prime ministers of the Commonwealth.

Macmillan now has a great personal stake in the issue. His continuation as Britain's prime minister could turn on whether he can successfully defend his plan to link Britain with the six-nation European trade grouping.

Surprisingly, Macmillan absented himself from his morning Cabinet meeting to lobby for his policies among the Commonwealth leaders.

State Visit To Turkey

ANKARA, Turkey (AP)—Archbishop Makarios, president of Cyprus, will begin a state visit to Turkey Nov. 22, the Foreign Ministry announced.

WINNER AND LOSER — Actress Edie Adams, who burst into tears yesterday when a Los Angeles judge awarded her custody of the late Ernie Kovacs' two children, wipes her eyes (left) as she thanks attorney, Murray Chotiner, a few moments after the decision. The court ruled that both Miss Adams and the girls' real mother, Mrs. Betty Kovacs, shown above after the judge's ruling, are "fit and proper" guardians but that the girls "are of sufficient age to form an intelligent preference." Both girls had testified they preferred Miss Adams.

Kennedy Names Board To Study Boeing Dispute

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy acted Thursday to head off a possible weekend strike by 45,000 machinists employed by Boeing Co., another labor-troubled missile and space equipment producer for the government.

The President appointed a three-man board to study the stalemated Boeing labor contract dispute and recommend settlement terms. The present contract expires Saturday but the machinists union is expected to hold off any walkout until after the board can report.

Kennedy, in notifying Boeing and the union of his action, took occasion to stress again, for the second time in three days, that strikes in such vital space and missile work would be contrary to the public interest. Boeing produced the Minuteman intercontinental ballistic missile.

Boeing operates plants around Seattle, Wash.; one at Wichita, Kan., and is working on a number of key missile sites, including Cape Canaveral, Fla., all of which could be affected by any strike.

The government is worried about strike threats Sept. 22 at the missile, space and plane-making plants of Lockheed, North American, Convair and Ryan, employing over 100,000 workers.

A board named by Kennedy in late July has recommended these firms grant the machinists and auto unions, both affiliated with the AFL-CIO, the union shop, an arrangement requiring all plant employes to be union members. At present the unions have the plants only partly organized.

Kennedy picked Saul Wallen, 52, veteran arbitrator and labor lecturer at Harvard University, as chairman of the new board to work on the Boeing dispute. Wallen is a former president of the National Academy of Arbitrators.

Four Killed In Fiery Crash Of Small Plane

NORWALK, Ohio (UPI) — A private airplane crashed near a busy interchange of the Ohio Turnpike Thursday and burst into flames upon impact, killing all four persons aboard.

Authorities said the single-engine Cessna plane crashed on the first turn after takeoff, about one-fourth of a mile west of the Norwalk-Sandusky Interchange. The plans was believed to have taken off from a private airstrip at a motel near the interchange.

Authorities said the plane was registered to John A. Sheldon of Rocky River, Ohio, a suburb of Cleveland. Sheldon is an engineer in the Electric Propulsion Division of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration.

The victims were identified as Sheldon, owner - pilot; Allen J. Cairns, 20, Akron; Ernest T. Bialek, 23, Lakewood, and his wife, Janet.

New Procedure Detects Kidney, Bladder Cancer

CAMBRIDGE, Mass. (AP)—An unprecedented new procedure for early detection of cancers of kidney and bladder, which is expected to save many lives, was announced Thursday by the Harvard Medical School.

The test, the announcement said can reveal the presence of cancer before clinical symptoms become evident or, in many instances, suspected.

The announcement described the test as the simplest possible screening procedure, disclosing any increase and activity of a zinc enzyme in the urine of presumably symptom-free persons.

Urinary cancers are notorious for their silence or lack of evidence of early symptoms, and as a result, nearly 50 per cent are recognized only when it is too late for curative therapy, the report said.

India, Peiping Swap Charges

NEW DELHI, India (AP)—India and Red China accused each other Thursday of making new advances across the tense border near the mountainous Himalayan trail taken by the Dalai Lama in his escape from Tibet. There were no reports of shooting.

Prime Minister Nehru's government said a detachment of Chinese Communist troops appears to have crossed Tuesday into northeast India.

The Chinese incursion was reported just east of the Buddhist protectorate of Bhutan, which India has pledged to defend.

The Nehru government tended to play down the incident despite unofficial reports that an Indian outpost had been surrounded by a Chinese force outnumbering it 10 to 1.

Peiping's New China News Agency countered with a charge Indian troops had set up a new "agressive strong point" in Tibet. "This marks a new development in nibbling of Chinese territory," the agency said.

Celia Whips Atlantic With 60-MPH Winds

MIAMI (UPI)—Tropical storm Celia kicked up 60-mile-an-hour winds over the open Atlantic Thursday night while moving along a course that will route it safely past the Leeward Islands, the Virgin Islands and Puerto Rico.

A 6 p.m. EDT advisory said Celia should pass about 150 miles north of the islands and 175 to 200 miles north of Puerto Rico during the weekend. The storm's weakest winds were on its southern side.

The advisory located Ceila, third tropical storm of the season, about 1,800 miles east-southeast of Miami.

Heroic Navy Pilot, Eight Others Perish In Crash

SEAL BEACH, Calif. (AP)—"It was an act of heroism. The pilot must have known he was turning toward almost certain death."

Thus a Navy spokesman described the maneuver—turning to a perilous course from a safer one — of a pilot who guided his plane away from a residential area, then died with eight others when it crashed.

The Navy P2V Neptune patrol bomber skimmed above the rooftops of a retirement community, "Leisure World," at nearby Rossmoor on Wednesday night, then crashed in a field between ammunition bunkers at Seal Beach Net and Ammunition Depot.

A left engine burst into flames as the craft took off from Los Alamitos Naval Air Station, where a Reserve squadron from Georgia has been training since Sept. 4. The pilot, Lt. Cmdr. Arthur William Knighten, 38, was a telephone company accounting manager at Charlotte, N. C.

"There is no doubt that the pilot turned toward the flaming engine, causing his whole plane to be engulfed," said Cmdr. Thomas H. Moriarty, administrative officer of the squadron.

"Normal procedure in such an emergency is to turn away from the direction of the flames. The only reason for turning into the flames was to avoid crashing into the populated areas."

A board of inquiry sought Thursday to learn the cause of the fire.

House Told U. N. Must Have Loan Or Leave Congo

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United Nations will have to pull its troops out of the Congo in a few weeks unless it receives a substantial loan at once, the House was told Thursday.

Rep. Thomas E. Morgan, D-Pa., chairman of the House Foreign Affairs Committee, urged the House to face "this fundamental fact" in voting on a bill to authorize a $100-million loan to the United Nations by the United States.

The vote on the controversial bill, which has already passed the Senate in slightly different form, will come Friday.

Debate Thursday disclosed strong opposition to the bill, mainly from Republicans. They centered their attack on the long list of nations which are delinquent in their U.N. assessments, and on current U.N. operations in the Congo.

The loan authorized by the bill would go to help meet the cost of the U.N. peace-keeping efforts in the Congo, and along the Israeli-Egyptian border.

Even some speakers who voiced support of the bill expressed distaste for what they called efforts by the United Nations to force the secessionist province of Katanga into joining the central government of the Congo.

Morgan, however, declared the maintenance of U.N. troops in the Congo is the only alternative to Soviet penetration of central Africa.

U. S. To Act If Security Threatened

Intervention Not Yet Justified But Nation 'Alert And Capable'

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy declared Thursday the United States will be "alert and fully capable" to deal with any offensive threat from Soviet-backed Cuba against the United States or any country in this hemisphere.

At the same time he appealed to the American people "to keep both their nerve and their head."

The President told a news conference that he has full power as commander in chief of U. S. armed forces to take any action which may become necessary.

He warned the Communists against threatening or using force against the U. S. naval base at Guantanamo, the Panama Canal, the Cape Canaveral rocket base or the lives of American citizens in this country or any nation in this hemisphere.

But in a carefully weighed and prepared statement he also said that recent Soviet arms shipments to Cuba do not present a threat to this country. And he declared emphatically that unilateral U. S. intervention in Cuba at present is not justified.

Surveillance Increased

He pledged, however, that "we shall be alert and fully capable" to deal with any dangerous change in the situation. This country, he said, is increasing its surveillance in the Caribbean.

The President opened a news conference with a lengthy statement on the Cuban situation.

He said there has been a great deal of talk about that situation "both in the Communist camp and our own."

Asserting then that it is Castro and his supporters who are in trouble, he said the regime is isolated in the hemisphere, condemned by the OAS, excluded from the Inter-American Defense Board and kept out of the free trade organization, industries are stagnating, harvests are declining and Castro's own supporters are seeing the promise of the revolution betrayed.

It is not surprising, the President went on, that Castro is raising the threat of an American intervention.

Soviet Personnel Increase

Movement of Soviet personnel to the island has increased, Kennedy said, and is under careful surveillance by this country.

If the United States ever finds it necessary to intervene, he said, all the imported technicians would not alter the result.

He said he had already stated that the buildup of Soviet personnel in Cuba does not yet represent a threat of aggression to the rest of the hemisphere.

But if the buildup should ever become a potential base for aggression, the United States will move swiftly and effectively to take whatever action is necessary, he said.

"We shall neither initiate nor permit aggression in this hemisphere," the President pledged.

Unilateral military action by the United States cannot be justified at this time and is not required, Kennedy said. He added that it was unfortunate that such talk was being heard in this country.

Already Has Authority To Act

He stressed that if, at any time, Cuba posed a threat to the United States — particularly along the Florida coast, including Cape Canaveral — then the United States would do "whatever must be done" to protect U. S. security.

He said as President and commander in chief he already has the authority to take whatever action he feels necessary.

He said the United States will be making further proposals to "our friends in the Organization of American States."

The North Atlantic Treaty Organization also will be kept advised, he said, and this country will continue to work with Cuban exiles working for restoration of their country's freedom.

Congress and the people of the United States also will be kept posted, he said.

But he said the record should be clear that the only people talking about a war now are the Communist spokesmen in Moscow and Havana.

Report Sees Coal Pipeline Beneficial

WASHINGTON (AP) — An Interior Department report says the long-term effects of a proposed coal pipeline from West Virginia to the New York area should be beneficial not only to the coal industry but also to energy consumers generally.

To evaluate the economic potential and impacts of such a pipeline a hypothetical line, which would originate in northern West Virginia and terminate in utility plants in the Baltimore-to-New York area, was selected for study by department experts.

"In the single case studied, little impact on consumption of an employment by the petroleum and natural gas industries and of the transportation industries which serve them would be expected," the report's summary said, continuing:

"A pipeline from northern West Virginia to the East Coast would be expected to cause little dislocation in the coal industry of West Virginia, but could affect markets for central Pennsylvania coals, unless provisions were made to use coal from that area in order to take advantage of their low sulphur content.

"Over-all, however, lower delivered prices would enhance coal's competitive position in the growing utility market and lead to greater coal consumption."

Sanders Wins Georgia Race

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Youthful Carl E. Sanders credited his selection as Georgia's governor to an endorsement by the people of honesty in government and a rejection of what he called spurious racial issues.

The 37-year-old state senator from Augusta, making his first statewide race in Wednesday's Democratic primary election, swamped former Gov. Marvin Griffin, 55, who campaigned on a platform of stemming integration and reviving segregation through what he called a southwide revival.

Sanders had 426,609 votes to 266,039 for Griffin in returns from 1,480 of 1,826 precincts.

He won in the first popular vote primary since 1908 but a tabulation of complete and incomplete returns indicated he would have been the winner under the old county unit system which a federal court voided.

That system was weighed heavily in favor of rural areas, with each county being allocated a certain number of units. The candidate carrying a county got its units and 206 units assured victory. Sanders' county units totaled 230.

Crowd Changes Indian's Mind

BALTIMORE (AP)—The jeers of a crowd estimated by police at 2,000 persons caused a man who said he was a Cherokee Indian to change his mind about moving into a new Baltimore neighborhood.

Police said the crowd apparently thought the man his wife and seven children were Negroes because a Negro friend was helping the family move into the Hampden area of Baltimore.

Lt. Walter S. Tyler said about 10 policemen held off the crowd while the man, Elbert Hunt, debated moving into the newly rented home.

Tyler said the police promised protection after the crowd threatened to wreck the house, but Hunt decided against moving in and instead returned to his former dwelling in Baltimore.

Two "Thalidomide Babies" Born In Md.

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Health Department reported Thursday that the births of two deformed babies in Maryland may have been the result of the drug thalidomide.

The department said that "several cases of deformity consistent with the type produced by thalidomide were identified and are being reviewed."

Of the 23 physicians in Maryland who had received samples of the drug for clinical testing, all had either destroyed the drug or returned it to the manufacturer, the department said. It said the drug had not been given to any pregnant women.

The Food and Drug Administration reported Thursday that one of the deformed births in Maryland was at the Andrews Air Force Base Hospital. The FDA said the mother apparently had been given thalidomide at the hospital in the early stages of pregnancy.

The other Maryland case, the FDA said, involved a deformed infant born at a hospital in Baltimore.

Father Shoots Son And Himself

BETHESDA, Md. (AP)—A Bethesda youth and his father were in critical condition Thursday from bullet wounds in the head.

Montgomery County Police said Joe S. Marrie Sr., 49, shot his 17-year-old son, Joe Jr., and then shot himself.

Joe Jr. underwent a five-hour operation in Suburban Hospital. Police said doctors told them "there is not much hope."

The shooting happened Wednesday night outside the family home. It was the climax of an argument between the two, police said.

Taylor In Cambodia To Discuss U. S. Aid

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (AP)—Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor flew here Thursday to discuss increasing American military aid to this neutralist kingdom in the midst of Cambodia's fiery feud with pro-Western Thailand and South Viet Nam.

Taylor, who came direct from Saigon, South Viet Nam, sidestepped getting involved in the dispute between the neighboring nations.

Taylor said he would discuss increase in U.S. military aid to Cambodia during a 24-hour stopover before going to Thailand.

Thailand, like South Viet Nam, is solidly in the Western camp.

Cuban Volunteers

WASHINGTON (UPI)—The Defense Department disclosed Thursday it is working on a plan to enlist Cubans in the U.S. armed forces and train them in Spanish-speaking units.

Motorist Killed

FREDERICK (AP)—Clifford W. Wolfe, 35, of Smithsburg, was fatally injured Wednesday night when his car ran off U.S. 40 in Frederick County and overturned.

State Police said the car failed to negotiate a curve near Wolfesville.

Maryland's traffic death toll for 1962 stands at 388, or 95 more than on a similar date last year.

Tot Killed By Tractor

COLORA, Md. (AP) — Thomas Alldred, 3, was killed Thursday when a farm tractor ran over him near his father's farm.

State Police said the youngster apparently crawled beneath a trailer and was run over when its tractor pulled away.

The tractor operator was identified as George H. Burton, 46.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR READERS: Recently someone wrote to ask what I thought about friends and relatives taking flashbulb pictures and movies in a funeral home. The writer asked if I thought this was right or wrong.

I replied it was not a matter of right or wrong — but rather a matter of taste. I expressed the personal opinion that movie cameras and flashbulbs are out of place at funeral homes.

Dozens of readers called me hard-hearted and cruel. "We run the movies of grandfather's funeral every time relatives come from out of the city," wrote a Missouri woman. "They are so grateful, especially the ones who couldn't make it."

A reader from Kentucky wrote: "I wouldn't take a million dollars for the pictures I made of my husband laid out in his blue suit. He looked better in that box than he had anytime in the last 10 years."

It is not my wish to impose my views on others but when I am asked for an opinion I give it. It seems to me that most people would prefer to be remembered as they were in life, not in death. The final decision, of course, rests with the family.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I was pleased with your reply to the woman who divorced her husband twice and remarried him. I had the same experience and you are so right, Ann

Teddy and I were married while we were both in college. Our ideas of love and marriage were straight out of a dime novel. I couldn't understand why he was always tired even though he worked nights and went to school days. He couldn't understand why I was going stir-nuts even though he knew I was alone all the time Within the year we were divorced.

Just as the woman who wrote to you, Teddy and I tried to spite each other. I married an old flame and he married a girl he hardly knew. It took six months before we were willing to admit we had been fools. We re-married at the earliest possible moment and had two children in the next three years.

Our marriage is far from perfect but, we've decided no marriage can be perfect because every marriage involves imperfect human beings. We have agreed to strike the word "divorce" from our vocabularies. Sometimes a walk around the block will accomplish the same thing. — WISER NOW

DEAR ANN LANDERS: I'm a widow who has been keeping company, with an architect for five years. His wife died several years ago. We both visit my married children frequently. My children admire and respect him, and he is fond of them.

He has married children who live in this city, also, but I have never met them. I suspect he has not introduced me to his children because he's afraid they won't like me. I've hinted strongly that I would love to meet his family but he ignores the hints and changes the subject.

Eventually I hope we will marry although he has never mentioned it. I do not accept social engagements with other men and he has no other women companions. But I am terribly unhappy about this one point and want to know if I should press further. Or should I let the matter slide until he is ready?—THERESA

DEAR THERESA: If you are content to enjoy the architect's company — fine, but in my view this relationship will never get off the drawing board.

After five years if a man has not mentioned marriage I suspect he never will.

Are you going steady? Making marriage plans? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "Before You Marry—Is It Love Or Sex?", enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

College Freshmen Are Greeted

New Ordinances For Midland Are Prepared

MIDLAND — Attorney John J. Mathias presented copies of the proposed new town ordinances to Mayor Lionel D. Baker and Council at a recent meeting in the council chambers.

The new ordinances were prepared to suit the town's needs. Mr. Mathias advised the Mayor and Council to study the ordinances carefully to make sure that nothing significant has been omitted. The mayor stated that a special meeting will be held in the near future and the ordinances adopted the first of October.

James G. McElvie and Charles Connor of Lonaconing requested the council's permission to run a television cable into the corporate limits of the town. Mr. McElvie pointed out that the TV cable is now being used by many residents of Lonaconing and the surrounding area. Several persons in Midland had requested cable television.

Mayor Baker explained to Mr. McElvie and Mr. Connor that the M.G.W. Television Company, Inc., has spent considerable money on TV translators. Members of that organization have spent considerable time and effort in perfecting the TV translator reception. However, he suggested that Mr. McElvie have a petition signed by those wanting cable television in Midland.

School Bus Just Misses Accident

BITTINGER — A bus load of children on the way to school yesterday morning in Garrett County near here narrowly escaped injury when a mounted hammer mill, a portable feed grinding machine on a truck body, fell over directly in front of the bus.

Donald Fay Folk, Grantsville, owner and driver, was heading towards Bittinger with his rig when the rear wheels and housing dropped out from beneath the truck. The rig tipped over on its side directly in front of the bus. Ira Yaste, driver of the school bus, said that he had just picked up a child and had not reached full speed. When he stopped the bus it was only a few feet from the rig and had to back up before proceeding on to school.

The mill was so heavy and bulky that a regular rigger from a garage in Grantsville was unable to right the machine and a special rig had to be built over the mill to use a chain hoist to pull it erect.

Folk, the owner, said that if the gasoline tank had been filled on the truck a fire could have broken out quite easily.

Home From Hospital

LONACONING — Mrs. Hubert Nicol and infant daughter, Gail Lynn, returned to their home at Charleston on Thursday from the hospital.

Valley High Students Elect New Council

LONACONING — Student Council representatives were elected at Valley High School. June Timney, Norma Langham and Mary Lee Brant are senior representatives. Carol Fike, Janice Green and Bob Steiding are alternate senior members.

Thomas Devlin, Robert Hamilton, Mike Warnick and Janet Loar are juniors elected. Gordon Cameron, Barbara Hadley, Dixie Howell and Helen Ann Simpson are alternates for the junior class.

Florence Brown, Gayle Griffith, Kenny Lancaster, Tom Miller, and Alverta Timney are sophomores. Ed Bailey, James Doolan, Rheba James, Peggy Mooney and Elsie May Robertson are alternates named by the tenth graders.

Freshmen representatives are Rebecca Bolyard, Janice Gardner, Nancy Milford, Billy Lupis and Lois Wilhelm. Alternates are Lorraine Clark, Mary Aleda James, Bob Love, Jean Sprinkle and Carol Sullivan.

Marsha Duckworth, Roberta Keyes, Kay Martin, Ricky Steiding, representatives; Terry Anderson, James Love, Carolyn Metz and Eleanor Sloan, alternates; are elected from the eighth grade classes.

Sharon Kyle, Vicki Lancaster, Wayne Shockey are Student Council members from grade seven; Marilyn Furmon, Robert Green and Mary Margaret Thrasher are alternates to attend the council meetings.

The bidding:

West	North	East	South

Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♦

While it is very important, even to the expert, to have at his quick command the proper handling of various card combinations, nevertheless there are certain situations which must be improvised during the actual combat. In today's hand, declarer had an opportunity to work out one such problem, but unfortunately failed to rise to the occasion.

West opened the bidding with one heart and, when the next two players passed, South decided, I think quite properly, to take a chance on a game contract in spades. He reasoned that if he found his partner with insufficient values, the sting would be mellowed by his possession of 150 honors. West opened the queen of diamonds, and East won with the ace to return the suit, which of course declarer took with his king. South drew two rounds of trumps and led the king of hearts. West won with the ace and returned a small heart. Declarer, mindful of the opening bid, decided to play West for the jack of hearts and, in order to provide a parking place for one of his clubs, he inserted the ten from dummy. East, of course, won with the jack and the club return settled declarer's hash.

I must admit that the declarer was the victim of a little hard luck but, on the other hand, he contributed to his own downfall. It must be agreed that it is not unreasonable to assume that West held the jack of hearts, but a more effective method of playing the hand was available to declarer.

After extracting trumps, he should merely lead the seven of hearts from his hand. West will be forced to duck to prevent the establishment of two heart tricks for declarer. So, South goes up with the queen of hearts in dummy and returns a heart to force out the ace. True, it is a matter of mere chance that the jack of hearts drops on this trick but, even had that card not appeared, West would be in without any safe method of getting out. He finds himself in an old fashioned end play. He has the doubtful choice of leading a third round of hearts, which will establish dummy's ten, or else he must lead a club, which takes the curse out of that suit for declarer.

Pythian Sisters Attend Parley

MIDLAND — Staff members of Myrtle Temple No. 2 Pythian Sisters, will present a program to honor one of its members, Mrs. Ann Jenkins, who will be installed as Grand Chief of Maryland Pythian Sisters at the joint installation ceremonies on Saturday, at the Southern Hotel, Baltimore, where the Knights of Pythias and Pythian Sisters joint convention started on Thursday evening with a memorial service.

Ira Whittington, Lonaconing, will be installed as Grand Chancellor of the Maryland Grand Lodge Knights of Pythias. Mrs. Eloise Stafford, Lonaconing, Grand Chief of the Maryland Grand Temple will preside at the two-day business session. Transportation was by Willetts special bus service.

Garrett Grand Jurors Return 15 Indictments

Legislation providing for a second deputy sheriff and also a recommendation for the construction of a county equipment storage building was contained Wednesday in the report of the grand jury of the September term of Garrett County Circuit Court.

The jury made its recommendations in the report presented to Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill after two days of investigation.

The jurors pointed out that the sheriff and his deputy have a heavy work load. In addition, the report cited, to having charge of the jail and law enforcement duties, the two men must transport all prisoners from Oakland to state penal institutions, must serve Circuit Court papers, and must transport patients to state hospitals, not to mention many other chores.

Sheriff's Wife In Charge

Many times, the report said, the jail is left in care of the sheriff's wife. Inasmuch as this is not satisfactory for many reasons, the grand jury recommended that a request for legislation providing for a second deputy sheriff should be presented to the Garrett County senator and delegates for passage in the 1963 legislature.

The jurors instructed the clerk of Circuit Court to send a copy of the September grand jury report to all the county legislators in January. In taking this action, the jury expressed its concern for proper law enforcement in Garrett county.

The report also recommended a number of repairs in the County Jail and advocated the installation of a stoker for the coal furnace.

The jurors also recommend that the county's legislators increase the salary of the jail's cook from $50 a month to $100 a month.

Building Urged

This jury renewed the recommendation of the past three grand juries that the County Commissioners construct a building for the housing of county equipment other than that of the Roads Department.

Voting machines, primarily, figure in this need for warehousing. They are stored in the basement of the Court House, and their handling into and out of the quarters is very difficult.

The jury commended the Garrett County Memorial Hospital staff for the excellent condition of the institution.

The County Garage was found neat and orderly and the treasurer's books were approved highly.

The jury, in addition to its recommendations, returned 15 indictments after hearing 25 witnesses during the two days.

Crime Wave Of Youngsters Nipped Early

Action Taken In Moorefield

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—A miniature crime wave among the small fry in Moorefield was nipped in the bud by busy state and town police over the week end. Four youngsters ages from seven to 11 left a trail of destruction and vandalism Saturday afternoon at the new Paul B. Bailey Lumber Co. yards.

The four youths pushed over a pile of roofing rolls, opened the cans of tar and sacks of nails in the rolls pouring them around, filled the grease journals of a box car with rocks and gravel, managed to pull the main switch to start a power saw and sawed several boards. The ingenious youths even connected the battery cable to a tractor, started it, and drove it around inside the new building. From the Bailey Lumber Company the youngsters wandered on to the Branch Mountain Lumber Company and tried to start the huge diesel motor but settled for pouring what they thought was oil in the crankcase. State Police Trooper A. J. Wade easily found the four miscreants with tar still on their hands. The badly frightened youths confessed to their shenanigans and were turned over to their parents for punishment.

Early Friday morning between the hours of one and four one or possibly two youths broke the glass on the door of Dan McNeill's Army and Navy Store north of Moorefield and took a revolver, a rifle, 13 boxes of shells, a compass and a field pack and belt. The broken glass was carefully piled outside the door. All of the stolen goods was recovered.

Police have fingerprints on both the glass and the guns. No formal arrest had been made by Tuesday, although one youth was questioned. The size of the opening in the door glass made it evident a small boy was involved. An attempt was made to get through a window on the side of the building prior to the entry through the front door. Corporal J. A. Shrout, Town Sergeant Charles Hefner and Town Police James Hedrick made the investigation.

Four youths were warned Friday afternoon by Judge H. Gus Muntzing and one of the four was placed on probation for six months for shooting the glass out of a trailer below Moorefield and other vandalism.

Illegal Liquor Outlets Far Outnumber Legal Ones

PARKERSBURG, W. Va. (UPI) — West Virginia has at least four illegal liquor outlets for every legal one, with two-thirds of the illicit dealers located in the four Northern Panhandle Counties.

The legal outlets are 132 stores and 14 agencies of the West Virginia Liquor Commission, which under state law has an absolute monopoly on retail sale of alcoholic beverages other than 3.2 beer.

The outlets which on the face of it are operating outside the law are clubs, taverns and other establishments that have bought federal stamps which, in effect, identify them as retail dealers in liquor or wine.

A survey by United Press International shows that as of the end of last month, 722 such stamps had been sold in West Virginia, including 458 in Ohio, Brooke, Marshall and Hancock Counties alone.

They come in two varieties, each at a cost of $50, one called a Retail Dealer in Liquor stamp, the other a Retail Dealer in Beer and Wine. But each permits the holder to sell liquor, wine or beer without federal interference.

No State Immunity

They do not, of course, protect the dealer against state prosecution. But failure to buy one could subject a liquor dispenser to a possible federal prison sentence of two years and a maximum fine of $5,000. They must be renewed annually at the start of each fiscal year.

While the four northernmost counties account for two - thirds of the total, 13 other counties show no stamps sold. They are Boone, Calhoun, Clay, Doddridge, Gilmer, Lincoln, Monroe, Morgan, Nicholas, Pendleton, Putnam, Wirt and Wayne Counties.

A tavern operating legally and selling only 3.2 beer is also required to have a federal permit, but this one costs only $24.

Federal wine - beer stamps, as opposed to regular liquor stamps, are concentrated almost exclusively in the Northern Panhandle, whose four counties account for 301 of the 318 sold for the 1962-63 fiscal year.

Rumor has it that this "custom" dates back to the era of a former state beer commissioner who spread the word that his agents would take it as proof positive of violation of state beer regulations if an establishment displayed a federal "liquor stamp."

The prohibition did not extend to wine-beer stamps — although for federal purposes they apply equally to hard liquor—and a new custom was born in the Panhandle.

Marion Follows Leaders

Figures for those four northernmost counties include 165 wine-beer and 59 liquor stamps in Ohio County for a total of 224; 77-36 and a 113 total in Hancock; 39-37—76 in Marshall and 20-25—45 in Brooke. Grand total, 301 wine-beer, 157 liquor, 458 overall.

No other county than Marion, with 29 counting both varieties, has more than 19 "licenses."

The other runnersup are Kanawha 19, Wood 18, Cabell 17, Harrison and Mercer 13 each, Wetzel 12, and Fayette and Berkeley 10 each.

Except in the panhandle area, most stamp buyers are concentrated in urban sections of the various counties. Marion County, for example, shows 26 stamps sold in Fairmont and only 3 in the rest of the county. Sixteen of Kanawha's 19 are concentrated in Charleston, 16 of Cabell's 17 in Huntington and 17 of Wood's 18 in Parkersburg.

The number of stamps sold in other counties includes Hampshire 4, Hardy 3, Jackson 3, Mason 1, Mineral 9, Monongalia 8, Preston 7, Randolph 7, Taylor 9, Tucker 5, Tyler 4, and Upshur 4.

West Virginia voters will decide in the Nov. 6 election whether to legalize sale of liquor-by-the-drink on a local option basis.

ENGAGED — Mr. and Mrs. John W. Beeman, 20 Island Street, Lonaconing, announce the engagement of their daughter, Catherine Louise, above, to Pfc. Donald L. Teters Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald L. Teters Sr., Mt. Savage. Miss Beeman is a 1962 graduate of Valley High School. Pfc. Teters was graduated from Mt. Savage High School in 1961. He is now serving with the U. S. Army in Alaska. The wedding will take place in April when he returns from Alaska.

Longest mountain system is the Andes, which stretch a distance of 4,500 miles.

Piedmont Men Face Theft Count

KEYSER — Two Piedmont men charged with the theft of money from a Piedmont woman were released under $500 bond each Wednesday following a hearing in Mineral County Circuit Court.

Marshall Douglas Wolf and Raymond Czermak Nielsen were released under bond after they agreed to submit to a polygraph test. The tests will be administered in an attempt to establish the nature and degree of the theft with which they are charged.

Wolf and Nielsen were lodged in Mineral County Jail after being charged with stealing an amount of money from Marjorie Ahlfeld. Authorities hope to determine if the woman's premises were broken into, or if the theft is simply a matter of larceny.

A witness for the prosecution also agreed to the lie detector tests.

The pair was ordered to reappear before the court on or before November 1.

Kenneth Green, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vincent Green, is a patient in Memorial Hospital.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers
Create Your Own "Custom" Coiffure

Building up your own hairdo, feature by feature, is the only way to find an individual, always-becoming basic style. By experimenting with different setting methods, you can vary the basic arrangement with many modes—without altering the flattering frame your facial characteristics demand.

Best of all, you will present an up to date image that somehow manages to look different from the woman-next-door.

Yesterday, you read tips on treating hair styling at the brow and cheekline. Today we'll consider the lower part of your face, starting with the jawline:

THE SQUARE JAW needs softening, so choose fluff, curls or waves for your side hair, set close to the head a bit higher than the jawline.

THE HEAVY JAW stands alone . . . with side hair kept away from the face by cutting, sweeping up or far back. For balance, concentrate the curls, waves or fluff at the temples.

THE RECEDING CHIN takes greater shape if front and side hair are brought forward in a fluffy fringe of bangs. Back hair should be set for fullness.

THE JUTTING CHIN makes it point well enough without the help of hair. Set both side and top hair so that curls never extend forward past the hairline.

Now, take stock of your neck:

A SCRAWNY NECK can be camouflaged with back hair worn long, at least extending below the hairline and set for fullness.

THE LONG NECK is less stork-like when the hair is longer and fuller. Short modes are definitely out.

THE PLUMP NECK looks more slender and swan-like when back hair is cut short, certainly no longer than the hairline. Style the back simply without fuss and fullness.

THE SHORT NECK achieves more status with a moderate or short hair style. Long hair would only make the neck look shorter.

Once you've selected all the characteristics your new coiffure should include, copy them down on a list to carry to your next appointment at a beauty salon — and have a consultation with your operator before you permit her to take that first snip at your locks. This time, no picking your hairdo out of "stock" or by pointing to a picture in a magazine. Don't be satisfied until you've achieved a "custom" coiffure that looks like YOU at your most attractive.

Keep your hair in peak condition with careful shampooing, daily brushing — and a proper hair-raising diet. A set of appetizing, balanced menus appear in my booklet, "Your Beauty Diet." You can have a copy by writing me, John Robert Powers, % this newspaper, enclosing 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Delivery in two weeks.

Garrett Grand Jurors Return 15 Indictments

Legislation providing for a second deputy sheriff and also a recommendation for the construction of a county equipment storage building was contained Wednesday in the report of the grand jury of the September term of Garrett County Circuit Court.

The jury made its recommendations in the report presented to Associate Judge Stuart F. Hamill after two days of investigation.

The jurors pointed out that the sheriff and his deputy have a heavy work load. In addition, the report cited, to having charge of the jail and law enforcement duties, the two men must transport all prisoners from Oakland to state penal institutions, must serve Circuit Court papers, and must transport patients to state hospitals, not to mention many other chores.

Sheriff's Wife In Charge

Many times, the report said, the jail is left in care of the sheriff's wife. Inasmuch as this is not satisfactory for many reasons, the grand jury recommended that a request for legislation providing for a second deputy sheriff should be presented to the Garrett County senator and delegates for passage in the 1963 legislature.

The jurors instructed the clerk of Circuit Court to send a copy of the September grand jury report to all the county legislators in January. In taking this action, the jury expressed its concern for proper law enforcement in Garrett county.

The report also recommended a number of repairs in the County Jail and advocated the installation of a stoker for the coal furnace.

The jurors also recommend that the county's legislators increase the salary of the jail's cook from $50 a month to $100 a month.

Building Urged

This jury renewed the recommendation of the past three grand juries that the County Commissioners construct a building for the housing of county equipment other than that of the Roads Department.

Voting machines, primarily, figure in this need for warehousing. They are stored in the basement of the Court House, and their handling into and out of the quarters is very difficult.

The jury commended the Garrett County Memorial Hospital staff for the excellent condition of the institution.

The County Garage was found neat and orderly and the treasurer's books were approved highly.

The jury, in addition to its recommendations, returned 15 indictments after hearing 25 witnesses during the two days.

MOOREFIELD, W. Va.—A miniature crime wave among the small fry in Moorefield was nipped in the bud by busy state and town police over the week end. Four youngsters ages from seven to 11 left a trail of destruction and vandalism Saturday afternoon at the new Paul B. Bailey Lumber Co. yards.

The four youths pushed over a pile of roofing rolls, opened the cans of tar and sacks of nails in the rolls pouring them around, filled the grease journals of a box car with rocks and gravel, managed to pull the main switch to start a power saw and sawed several boards. The ingenious youths even connected the battery cable to a tractor, started it, and drove it around inside the new building. From the Bailey Lumber Company the youngsters wandered on to the Branch Mountain Lumber Company and tried to start the huge diesel motor but settled for pouring what they thought was oil in the crankcase. State Police Trooper A. J. Wade easily found the four miscreants with tar still on their hands. The badly frightened youths confessed to their shenanigans and were turned over to their parents for punishment.

Secrets Of Charm
by John Robert Powers
Create Your Own "Custom" Coiffure

Building up your own hairdo, feature by feature, is the only way to find an individual, always-becoming basic style. By experimenting with different setting methods, you can vary the basic arrangement with many modes—without altering the flattering frame your facial characteristics demand.

Best of all, you will present an up to date image that somehow manages to look different from the woman-next-door.

Yesterday, you read tips on treating hair styling at the brow and cheekline. Today we'll consider the lower part of your face, starting with the jawline:

THE SQUARE JAW needs softening, so choose fluff, curls or waves for your side hair, set close to the head a bit higher than the jawline.

THE HEAVY JAW stands alone . . . with side hair kept away from the face by cutting, sweeping up or far back. For balance, concentrate the curls, waves or fluff at the temples.

THE RECEDING CHIN takes greater shape if front and side hair are brought forward in a fluffy fringe of bangs. Back hair should be set for fullness.

THE JUTTING CHIN makes it point well enough without the help of hair. Set both side and top hair so that curls never extend forward past the hairline.

Now, take stock of your neck:

A SCRAWNY NECK can be camouflaged with back hair worn long, at least extending below the hairline and set for fullness.

THE LONG NECK is less stork-like when the hair is longer and fuller. Short modes are definitely out.

THE PLUMP NECK looks more slender and swan-like when back hair is cut short, certainly no longer than the hairline. Style the back simply without fuss and fullness.

THE SHORT NECK achieves more status with a moderate or short hair style. Long hair would only make the neck look shorter.

Once you've selected all the characteristics your new coiffure should include, copy them down on a list to carry to your next appointment at a beauty salon—and have a consultation with your operator before you permit her to take that first snip at your locks. This time, no picking your hairdo out of "stock" or by pointing to a picture in a magazine. Don't be satisfied until you've achieved a "custom" coiffure that looks like YOU at your most attractive.

Keep your hair in peak condition with careful shampooing, daily brushing—and a proper hair-raising diet. A set of appetizing, balanced menus appear in my booklet, "Your Beauty Diet." You can have a copy by writing me, John Robert Powers, % this newspaper, enclosing 10c and a stamped, self-addressed envelope. Delivery in two weeks.

Four Persons Given Suspended Sentences In Welfare Fraud Cases

Four persons were given suspended sentences on charges of obtaining welfare by making false statements at hearings yesterday before Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris in Allegany County Circuit Court.

Donald W. Mason, assistant state's attorney, preferred the charges against Grace Wells, John C. and Margaret Bloss and Marvin Alt. Each pleaded guilty.

The cases resulted from investigations conducted by Arthur Scarpelli and John Nickel of the Allegany County Welfare Department staff.

The men each were given two-year suspended sentences to the House of Correction, and the women each two-year suspended terms in the Maryland Institution for Women. Each was ordered to make restitution to the Welfare Department through the State's Attorney's office.

Grace Wells pleaded guilty to obtaining $316 under false statements; Marvin Alt to receiving $323 in assistance, and Mr. and Mrs. Bloss to obtaining a total of $545.

Restitution was stipulated at $15 each month, beginning in October. The total for Mr. and Mrs. Bloss was placed at the same amount.

Queen Victoria reigned longer than any other British monarch, 63 years.

Soviet Ignores The Consumer

To most men, the desire for owning one's home is among the strongest ambitions. No matter how humble, a man's home represents one little bit of independence in a world which places a high degree of dependence upon neighbors for survival.

Here, one's own home may not mean as much as it would elsewhere because it is more easily available, but no matter where it is a man's home is truly his castle. Except in the Soviet Union, where such enjoyments are absolutely taboo, even when they help alleviate a serious shortage.

Russia is woefully lacking in housing accommodations. The situation has been getting progressively worse, as the continual drain of scarce materials into military uses compounds the already critical shortages of domestic goods. The great majority of Soviet city-dwellers live in cramped apartments, with several families frequently sharing one unit and even one room.

To alleviate these conditions, individual families have been permitted for many years to lease a plot of ground from the regional authority and build homes of their own. Most of these homes were one-story, three or four-room buildings, and the work required under bureaucratic guidance was onerous, but they were understandably popular.

Too popular. Blamed in part for the upsurge in private enterprises and demands for better and more consumer goods, the Kremlin has decreed private houses must go. Everyone must return to the collective apartments—which of course haven't been built yet.

And another flicker of freedom behind the Iron Curtain is extinguished. With it goes probably the only chance Moscow had of ever meeting its housing problems, but such considerations are not worth corrupting the mases for, are they?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Moderate Conservatism

Angry persons do not usually measure their words or curb their ideas. They run to an extreme which is usually more radical in expression than in belief. They reach conclusions which are not based on knowledge but on fear or anger or anxiety.

Norman Cousins, editor of the "Saturday Review," discusses this peculiarity in an editorial entitled: "In Defense of the Genuine Conservative." I have always regarded Cousins as a moderate conservative; that is, one who thinks on current issues within the restraining margins of historic memory. Such a man is ex-President Herbert Hoover. Cousins's own definition of Conservatism is:

"The term conservative has a specific background and meaning. It stands for stability as opposed to innovation; for restraint as opposed to daring; for the preservation of inherited conditions as opposed to drastic reform. These ideas are not only compatible with a free society; they have an essential place in it, along with genuine liberalism. True conservatism is opposed to liberalism, but not destructive of it."

Definitions usually end most debates, because intelligent men usually find that they agree on the definition and therefore their quarrel ceases to have meaning. The cry that Chief Justice Warren should be impeached; that the Kennedy dynasty be abolished; that we conduct a unilateral "sane" nuclear policy; that it is possible to retain segregation without encouraging African nations to join the Soviet bloc—these have nothing to do with conservatism or liberalism; they have to do with knowledge or ignorance of civics and international relations. Often the so-called neo-conservative believes in all sorts of contrary ideas simultaneously. He may be emotionally correct; his indignation may be justified. But wisdom counsels the avoidance of his remedy.

Conservatism is a concept of the social, political and economic manifestations of human existence which is based upon Natural Law and the historical experience of Man. Perhaps it might be stated as an idealism which directs the functioning of Man within the restraining margins of historical experience. From this standpoint it can be said that the Conservative is not driven by accidental or incidental occurrences, but that he is restrained from excesses by memory, precept and manners.

He therefore does not attribute his own failures to general causes; he assumes responsibility for his own errors of judgement and commission. Cousins says of the neo-conservatives, the extremists:

". . . They claim to be conservatives, but exactly what is it that they would conserve? Would they conserve the Constitution of the United States? Only if some major surgery could be performed, especially on the first ten amendments. Would they conserve the one institution that has been specifically charged with the responsibility to preserve a constitutional form of government; namely, the Supreme Court? Only if they could expunge some Supreme Court justices and decisions they happen to detest . . ."

The fact of the matter is that many of the extremists, discouraged by errors of knowledge and judgement over the years, have actually lost confidence in our form of government. They would have found Andrew Jackson's attack on the United States Bank cause for pessimism but somehow we survived both Andrew Jackson and the Biddles of Philadelphia. Survival is not a matter of incidents but of philosophy and faith.

The pessimists about our form of government have had many causes for distress. One who reads the attacks on Abraham Lincoln for being a dictator and a tyrant would hardly believe all that about the President who next to George Washington is accepted as the greatest of all. Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" was contemporaneously regarded as nothing but words. Those who believe that President Kennedy is too young and immature forget that our government was founded by men who were young and immature, the leading conservative, Alexander Hamilton, being killed in a duel at the age of 47.

In a word, Conservatism is an ideal of life, not a vehicle for hate or an instrument of pessimism. Norman Cousins writes:

"They claim Robert Taft as their patron saint, but they are lucky that he is not alive to tear himself loose from their unwanted affections. For Robert Taft was a genuine conservative."

Taft was a Conservative but a moderate one. His record shows that he stood for much social legislation but he never permitted anything to drive him to such extremes as the so-called Brain Trust introduced before they grew older and wiser.

Pressure On Khrushchev For 'Big Success'

By Joseph Alsop

Editor's note: Joseph Alsop's column from Berlin, which appeared in Wednesday's edition of The Cumberland News, mistakenly carried the byline of David Lawrence, whose column also appears in this space.

BERLIN

From this vantage point, Nikita S. Khrushchev looks unpleasantly like a leader who has begun to feel an acute need for a big success somewhere, in order to compensate for existing difficulties and failures.

If this appearance is not misleading, Berlin is pretty certainly the place where Khrushchev will try for this success. Hence the deterioration in Khrushchev's own situation must also be regarded as another major change in the Berlin situation.

Khrushchev's situation as leader of the world Communist bloc has certainly deteriorated, and in a really sombre manner, in the close-to-four years since he started the second Berlin crisis in November, 1958.

In those days he was still proclaiming, with evident confidence, that communism "would bury" capitalism without a world war, by the sheer force of its growing productivity and economic power. No doubt there was an element of rodomontade in these brave forecasts. Yet it is pretty clear that Khrushchev believed most of what he then said. Consider, then, what has happened in the interval.

From one end of the Communist block to the other, there are troubles that were certainly wholly unforesee in 1958. China, of course, is the place where the trouble is deepest, most somber, and most dangerous. It is growing still deeper, too, since it is now known that this year's harvest was only marginally better than the disastrous harvest last year. Another poor harvest means that China remains condemned to creeping starvation, and this creeping starvation has already gone on so long that Communist China's survival as an orgainzed society is beginning to be in question. There is much evidence, by now, that the Kremlin genuinely fears the outcome in China.

Yet Khrushchev must be even more troubled by his own Soviet society's sad failure to perform in the way he had expected and predicted. Of course, there is no such danger as exists in China, but home troubles are the worst troubles for all politicians.

A grave failure in agriculture combined with a much smaller shortcoming on the industrial front are the roots of the trouble in the Soviet Union. These have already produced one of those debates about investment priorities which, the record shows, have always tended to lead to crises in the Kremlin.

As might have been expected, military investments have been given first priority by the Kremlin debaters. But this means increasing disappointments of the "rising expectations" Khrushchev had encouraged in Russia. This alone knocks into a cocked hat the strategy for burying capitalism that Khrushchev used to tout so loudly. And there are some reasons to believe that the investment debate has also quite markely increased the political self-assertiveness of the Russian military leaders.

It can be seen, then, why Khrushchev is under far greater pressure to achieve a spectacular success than he was when he started the Berlin crisis four years ago. When drunk, he once described himself as "the locomotive of history." History, as he conceives it, needs a much harder pull in the Communist direction than it did in 1958, even if this means running risks that used to be considered unacceptable.

On this subject of risks at Berlin, Khrushchev himself has told several foreign visitors in the last few months that the Western alies "will never fight" when the choice faces them squarely. We may hope that the Soviet boss himself is not quite so convinced on this point as he has been pretending to be. But we most certainly cannot assume that the opposite conviction — the conviction that the West will indeed fight for Berlin—now grips the Soviet leadership.

On the contrary, the West's true intentions may be assumed to be subject of a continuous and probably acrimonious Kremlin debate with some (probably the military chiefs who must see our Berlin position as "abnormal," just as President Eisenhower did) swearing the West "will never fight," while others of a more prudent persuasion answer, "Have a care; they say they'll fight and they well may do what they say."

Arguing about this matter unendingly, seeing the great prize at Berlin seemingly within their grasp, having so much to gain by a Western surrender, the Kremlin leaders must feel an all but irresistible impulse to put the Western allies to the test. And if they are also ready to run greater risks than they formerly thought acceptable, the test may begin soon.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ENTERTAINERS' PAY — Congressmen are becoming concerned with the high rate of pay for entertainers sent overseas under the U. S. Cultural Exchange program. They're wondering whether show people should receive a higher rate of pay than a general, a congressman or a Cabinet officer.

Congressional attention was called to the matter by the public wrangling among one troupe of entertainers sent to Southeast Asia by the State Department, in which the star of the show, Joey Adams, received $1,200 a week.

Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N. J., has introduced a resolution to set a ceiling for $425 a week on the pay of any entertainer hired for the program. This would provide top pay at the annual rate of $22,100, still somewhat higher than the pay of generals, but below that of congressmen and Cabinet members.

SPORTS SECTION—Rep. Clark MacGregor, of Minnesota, has designated his office on Capitol Hill as the official Washington information service on the doings of the Minnesota Twins in their race for the American League baseball pennant.

MacGregor has a sign on his office door reading "Home of the Twins," and ever since he had it put up he's been ribbed by his neighbors who open the door and shout some wisecracks like "Did he really have twins?"

But baseball fan and civic rooter MacGregor is happy about the way things are going, both for the team and for himself. He's become so identified with the surprising team that even visitors inquire first how the Twins did in their latest game, and only afterward state their reason for coming to his office.

Rep. Powell's Hotel 2400 Venture Stirs Up Furor Along Embassy Row

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The one-man, two-girl junket to Europe on women's opportunities by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem has stirred up plenty of furor on Capitol Hill. But equal furor is beginning to boil up along Embassy Row in Washington over the real-estate operations of the same Congressman.

He has applied for and been given a letter of feasibility for a $4,250,000 FHA loan to take over the Hotel 2400 on 16th Street, the onetime Embassy Row, and make it into a home for elderly Negroes.

This part of 16th Street is across from the Spanish Embassy, and not far from the Italian, Mexican, Polish and Cuban Embassies. It was once considered the swankiest part of Washington, and was part of the tug-of-war between the late Mrs. John Henderson, prominent Washington socialite, who wanted the embassies built along 16th Street where she lived, and Mrs. Katherine McCormick, mother of the late publisher of the Chicago Tribune, whose wish was to create Embassy Row along Massachusetts Ave., where she lived.

The Congressman from Harlem has gone into quite a few real-estate ventures lately, working through the Adam Clayton Powell Foundation, which in turn is operated in conjunction with the Abyssinian Baptist Church, largest Baptist church in the world, of which he is founder.

The Congressman from Harlem has built a cooperative apartment house with federal and state funds, under the Mitchell-Lama act, at 135th Street and Lenox Avenue, in Harlem; also has started work on an old people's home which is to be built at Mt. Morris Park, in Harlem, financed with federal funds.

Memorial To Father

The Hotel 2400 on 16th Street which Powell proposes to transform into an old people's home for Negroes will be a memorial to his father. It is now the residence of Miss Corrine Huff, the first Negro to win the title of Miss Ohio State and who later became a runner-up in a Miss Universe contest. She has been a $417-a-month receptionist for the Congressman and was taken by him on the recent European junket, for which the State Department cabled to secure hotel reservations, theater tickets, choice seats at the Lido night club in Paris, a motorboat in Venice, and a cruise through the Greek Islands —largely with counterpart funds at the taxpayers' expense.

The Adam Clayton Powell Foundation already has an option on the Hotel 2400 from its owner, Robert Kaufman in New York, expiring on September 30. The foundation's agent, Richard Sherrill, is pushing hard for a final loan from the Federal Housing Administration.

This has put the head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, Robert Weaver, highest-ranking Negro in government, in a difficult spot. The FHA chief under him is Neal J. Hardy.

Preliminary OK

Mr. Hardy's office had given the Adam Clayton Powell Foundation preliminary OK on a $4,250,000 loan to purchase and remodel Hotel 2400, but when Powell's representatives came in with a request for $250,000 more on the ground that building costs had gone up, FHA began taking a second look.

Meanwhile, the pressures have begun to build up, both for and against a home for elderly Negroes on 16th Street. One argument for it is that the Liberian Embassy is at 5201 16th Street and the Ghana Embassy is at 2460 16th Street, almost directly across the street.

It's also argued that the Adams-Morgan area, which is adjacent to 16th Street, has been classified for rehabilitation.

Home Finance Administrator Weaver is leaving the decision to FHA Administrator Hardy, with instructions to treat it like any other housing application. Hardy is now taking a good look at the Adam Clayton Powell Foundation. Under the FHA law, it is supposed to have on hand 2 per cent of the amount of money it is borrowing.

So far, the Adam Clayton Powell Foundation doesn't have this much money. Originally, it was reported that other churches were behind it. This, however, has not proved to be the case.

Note — It is reported that the option for purchase of Hotel 2400, if not exercised by September 30, will not be renewed.

AID TO TOURISTS

For years, the taxpaying tourists have been treated like country cousins in Washington. They must endure not only the summer heat but other ordeals, such as inadequate parking and restaurant facilities, while sight-seeing with their families.

Capitol Hill offers the worst accommodations of all for tourists, many of whom travel hundreds — even thousands — of miles for a closeup look at Congress, the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, the Washington Monument, Mount Vernon, etc.

Except for a few public parking spaces on Capitol Plaza, which are always crowded, there are virtually no accommodations for visitors' autos near the Capitol building. Nor is there an adequate restaurant on the Hill where tourists can eat.

However, GOP Rep. Fred Schwengel of Iowa, president of the U. S. Capitol Historical Society, plans to change all this. Schwengel is perfecting plans for a huge tourist "rest center" about a mile from the Capitol near the Potomac River.

The center will include a vast parking area, a large cafeteria and restaurant, rest rooms, and service facilities for automobiles. In addition, there will be free buses to the Capitol. Schwengel plans to finance the long-needed project with funds from the Historical Society, raised by popular subscription.

Valley Of The Fallen: 2

MADRID, Spain — The priest and I turned our backs to the valley and, standing on the mountain peak, looked up to the cross. It is 450 feet tall, of solid granite, and a small elevator runs up inside. Two automobiles could drive abreast across the arms. At the base are heroic statues, in stone, of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. This ornament weighs 201,000 tons.

In the clear cold mountain air, the cross sways eight to ten inches. Each of the evangilists represents 1,300 pieces of sculptured stone. I could make a bed on the big toe of Saint John. Far below, over the entrance to the Valley of the Fallen, is La Pieta, the dead Christ in his mother's arms. The Fray and I took the elevator down.

All of Soldiers Field could be placed on the granite plaza in front of the basilica. Ten steps lead to it and these represent the Ten Commandments. There are huge carving granite porticos on each side of the main entrance. Here, I saw pilgrims from all over the world, even a Chinese woman in a slit dress, sitting on stone in the cool shade, fanning herself.

There are huge copper doors and, inside, spaced yellow lights grace both walls all the way to the main altar. At the entrance, two guardian angels, 15 feet high, stand in wall niches leaning on their swords as they guard the dead. Then come the grilled gates, filigreed in black iron with gold bands.

The distance between the gates and the choir loft is 780 feet, about 20 feet longer than St. Peter's in Rome. Here, 20,000 persons have knelt in prayer at one time, inside a mountain. On the granite walls are long tapestries, taken from the palace of Carlos I. They represent the history of Spain.

As we walked, the abbott explained. Sometimes, he hesitated for the proper word in English, and appealed to an interpreter, who walked with us. In the ceiling, the mountain boulders show through, thick and tawny, between the neat bands of polished granite.

The entire nave is dedicated to the Mother of God. Here, each side altar has a sculpture, over the entrance, of Madonna and Child and each was executed by a different artist. They are done in alabaster and some are faintly happy, and some are sorrowful. Each one represents a branch of the armed services of Spain and one is Our Lady of Mercy, patron of the prisoners.

A murderer worked in the basilica. He was under sentence of death and whatever he did was so heroic that, in time his life was spared and, eventually, he was freede. When the time came for him to depart, he looked at the basilica and said: "No. I cannot go. My home is here."

In the transept of the church there are pews. Up high on each wall are four statues of hooded men in meditation. They were ordered by Franco, and they represent the army, navy, air force and militia of the nationalists and Communists. They will meditate over the dead for the next few thousand years.

The main altar is simple. It is made of circular steps in chocolate marble so that, in effect, there is no front or back to the altar. Under the altar cloth is a single piece of thick granite, which stretches all the way across. Over it is a cross, a real juniper tree with the bark still on it.

Gen. Franco cut this himself, fitted the pieces together, and asked a sculptor to place on it the figure of Jesus. A single beam of light comes from the top of the cupola overhead, to light the figure of Christ. There is no agony in the face, just serenity as He raises His eyes up to the light for the last time.

In front of the altar is a stone, where Jose Antonia, hero of the civil war and founder of Falange, is buried. There is always a fresh wreath on it. The cupola alone is one of the marvels of the world. The artist Padros worked on it four years, and put together 5,000,000 pieces of mosaic to depict Christ surrounded by multitudinous saints and the Spanish soldiers who died, who now appeal to Him for mercy.

Behind the altar is a big choir loft, where the treble voices of the Benedictine novices sing Te Deum. Beyond that are long underground vaulted corridors, faint with lights and loud with the echoes of whispered prayers. These lead to the place, behind the mountain, where the monastery reposes in a quadrangle a quarter of a mile in each direction.

I thanked the Abbott Justo Perez de Urbel for escorting me. His Spanish hospitality is overwhelming. He bowed low. "You must come here one day," he said softly, "to live." . . .

Theories And Misbeliefs About Cancer, Babies

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

Why are most babies born at night? A Babson Park, Fla., woman writes:

"I have been interested in how closely we humans follow the development of man down through the ages. Most women go into labor at night. So did our prehistoric ancestral mothers. Darkness was a protection from enemies at a time when they were helpless to defend themselves. Most farm animals have their babies at night, too.'

Everyone is entitled to a theory when the reason for a situation is not known. This woman assumes that "pre-historic ancestral mothers" had their babies at night. In all probability, some delivered them during the day as do modern mothers. On the other hand, many of our habits and instincts go back to primitive man. We repress them but the civilized individual often reverts to the animal stage when certain emergencies arise.

It takes some people a long time to shake misbeliefs. An Illinois housewife writes: "Remember some time ago when the cancer scare started about cooking in aluminum ware? I threw out all my pots and pans made from this substance and replaced them with steel. Now comes aluminum wrap and I'm wondering if it is safe to use it for wrapping and storing foods or was the aluminum cancer scare just an idea and not true at all?"

The story was not true and this gullible woman should have investigated before throwing out her aluminumware. Furthermore, we went through the same thing when tin cans came into existence. But I suspect she still believes the myth because of her remarks on aluminum foil. If the use of this metal led to cancer, most of us would be gone by now.

Soviet Ignores The Consumer

To most men, the desire for owning one's home is among the strongest ambitions. No matter how humble, a man's home represents one little bit of independence in a world which places a high degree of dependence upon neighbors for survival.

Here, one's own home may not mean as much as it would elsewhere because it is more easily available, but no matter where it is a man's home is truly his castle. Except in the Soviet Union, where such enjoyments are absolutely taboo, even when they help alleviate a serious shortage.

Russia is woefully lacking in housing accommodations. The situation has been getting progressively worse, as the continual drain of scarce materials into military uses compounds the already critical shortages of domestic goods. The great majority of Soviet city-dwellers live in cramped apartments, with several families frequently sharing one unit and even one room.

To alleviate these conditions, individual families have been permitted for many years to lease a plot of ground from the regional authority and build homes of their own. Most of these homes were one-story, three or four-room buildings, and the work required under bureaucratic guidance was onerous, but they were understandably popular.

Too popular. Blamed in part for the upsurge in private enterprises and demands for better and more consumer goods, the Kremlin has decreed private houses must go. Everyone must return to the collective apartments—which of course haven't been built yet.

And another flicker of freedom behind the Iron Curtain is extinguished. With it goes probably the only chance Moscow had of ever meeting its housing problems, but such considerations are not worth corrupting the mases for, are they?

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Moderate Conservatism

Angry persons do not usually measure their words or curb their ideas. They run to an extreme which is usually more radical in expression than in belief. They reach conclusions which are not based on knowledge but on fear or anger or anxiety.

Norman Cousins, editor of the "Saturday Review," discusses this peculiarity in an editorial entitled: "In Defense of the Genuine Conservative." I have always regarded Cousins as a moderate conservative; that is, one who thinks on current issues within the restraining margins of historic memory. Such a man is ex-President Herbert Hoover. Cousins's own definition of Conservatism is:

"The term conservative has a specific background and meaning. It stands for stability as opposed to innovation; for restraint as opposed to daring; for the preservation of inherited conditions as opposed to drastic reform. These ideas are not only compatible with a free society; they have an essential place in it, along with genuine liberalism. True conservatism is opposed to liberalism, but not destructive of it."

Definitions usually end most debates, because intelligent men usually find that they agree on the definition and therefore their quarrel ceases to have meaning. The cry that Chief Justice Warren should be impeached; that the Kennedy dynasty be abolished; that we conduct a unilateral "sane" nuclear policy; that it is possible to retain segregation without encouraging African nations to join the Soviet bloc—these have nothing to do with conservatism or liberalism; they have to do with knowledge or ignorance of civics and international relations. Often the so-called neo-conservative believes in all sorts of contrary ideas simultaneously. He may be emotionally correct; his indignation may be justified. But wisdom counsels the avoidance of his remedy.

Conservatism is a concept of the social, political and economic manifestations of human existence which is based upon Natural Law and the historical experience of Man. Perhaps it might be stated as an idealism which directs the functioning of Man within the restraining margins of historical experience. From this standpoint it can be said that the Conservative is not driven by accidental or incidental occurrences, but that he is restrained from excesses by memory, precept and manners.

He therefore does not attribute his own failures to general causes; he assumes responsibility for his own errors of judgement and commission. Cousins says of the neo-conservatives, the extremists:

". . . They claim to be conservatives, but exactly what is it that they would conserve? Would they conserve the Constitution of the United States? Only if some major surgery could be performed, especially on the first ten amendments. Would they conserve the one institution that has been specifically charged with the responsibility to preserve a constitutional form of government; namely, the Supreme Court? Only if they could expunge some Supreme Court justices and decisions they happen to detest . . ."

The fact of the matter is that many of the extremists, discouraged by errors of knowledge and judgement over the years, have actually lost confidence in our form of government. They would have found Andrew Jackson's attack on the United States Bank cause for pessimism but somehow we survived both Andrew Jackson and the Biddles of Philadelphia. Survival is not a matter of incidents but of philosophy and faith.

The pessimists about our form of government have had many causes for distress. One who reads the attacks on Abraham Lincoln for being a dictator and a tyrant would hardly believe all that about the President who next to George Washington is accepted as the greatest of all. Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" was contemporaneously regarded as nothing but words. Those who believe that President Kennedy is too young and immature forget that our government was founded by men who were young and immature, the leading conservative, Alexander Hamilton, being killed in a duel at the age of 47.

In a word, Conservatism is an ideal of life, not a vehicle for hate or an instrument of pessimism. Norman Cousins writes:

"They claim Robert Taft as their patron saint, but they are lucky that he is not alive to tear himself loose from their unwanted affections. For Robert Taft was a genuine conservative."

Taft was a Conservative but a moderate one. His record shows that he stood for much social legislation but he never permitted anything to drive him to such extremes as the so-called Brain Trust introduced before they grew older and wiser.

Pressure On Khrushchev For 'Big Success'

By Joseph Alsop

Editor's note: Joseph Alsop's column from Berlin, which appeared in Wednesday's edition of The Cumberland News, mistakenly carried the byline of David Lawrence, whose column also appears in this space.

BERLIN

From this vantage point, Nikita S. Khrushchev looks unpleasantly like a leader who has begun to feel an acute need for a big success somewhere, in order to compensate for existing difficulties and failures.

If this appearance is not misleading, Berlin is pretty certainly the place where Khrushchev will try for this success. Hence the deterioration in Khrushchev's own situation must also be regarded as another major change in the Berlin situation.

Khrushchev's situation as leader of the world Communist bloc has certainly deteriorated, and in a really sombre manner, in the close-to-four years since he started the second Berlin crisis in November, 1958.

In those days he was still proclaiming, with evident confidence, that communism "would bury" capitalism without a world war, by the sheer force of its growing productivity and economic power. No doubt there was an element of rodomontade in these brave forecasts. Yet it is pretty clear that Khrushchev believed most of what he then said. Consider, then, what has happened in the interval.

From one end of the Communist block to the other, there are troubles that were certainly wholly unforesee in 1958. China, of course, is the place where the trouble is deepest, most somber, and most dangerous. It is growing still deeper, too, since it is now known that this year's harvest was only marginally better than the disastrous harvest last year. Another poor harvest means that China remains condemned to creeping starvation, and this creeping starvation has already gone on so long that Communist China's survival as an orgainzed society is beginning to be in question. There is much evidence, by now, that the Kremlin genuinely fears the outcome in China.

Yet Khrushchev must be even more troubled by his own Soviet society's sad failure to perform in the way he had expected and predicted. Of course, there is no such danger as exists in China, but home troubles are the worst troubles for all politicians.

A grave failure in agriculture combined with a much smaller shortcoming on the industrial front are the roots of the trouble in the Soviet Union. These have already produced one of those debates about investment priorities which, the record shows, have always tended to lead to crises in the Kremlin.

As might have been expected, military investments have been given first priority by the Kremlin debaters. But this means increasing disappointments of the "rising expectations" Khrushchev had encouraged in Russia. This alone knocks into a cocked hat the strategy for burying capitalism that Khrushchev used to tout so loudly. And there are some reasons to believe that the investment debate has also quite markely increased the political self-assertiveness of the Russian military leaders.

It can be seen, then, why Khrushchev is under far greater pressure to achieve a spectacular success than he was when he started the Berlin crisis four years ago. When drunk, he once described himself as "the locomotive of history." History, as he conceives it, needs a much harder pull in the Communist direction than it did in 1958, even if this means running risks that used to be considered unacceptable.

On this subject of risks at Berlin, Khrushchev himself has told several foreign visitors in the last few months that the Western alies "will never fight" when the choice faces them squarely. We may hope that the Soviet boss himself is not quite so convinced on this point as he has been pretending to be. But we most certainly cannot assume that the opposite conviction — the conviction that the West will indeed fight for Berlin—now grips the Soviet leadership.

On the contrary, the West's true intentions may be assumed to be subject of a continuous and probably acrimonious Kremlin debate with some (probably the military chiefs who must see our Berlin position as "abnormal," just as President Eisenhower did) swearing the West "will never fight," while others of a more prudent persuasion answer, "Have a care; they say they'll fight and they well may do what they say."

Arguing about this matter unendingly, seeing the great prize at Berlin seemingly within their grasp, having so much to gain by a Western surrender, the Kremlin leaders must feel an all but irresistible impulse to put the Western allies to the test. And if they are also ready to run greater risks than they formerly thought acceptable, the test may begin soon.

Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

ENTERTAINERS' PAY — Congressmen are becoming concerned with the high rate of pay for entertainers sent overseas under the U. S. Cultural Exchange program. They're wondering whether show people should receive a higher rate of pay than a general, a congressman or a Cabinet officer.

Congressional attention was called to the matter by the public wrangling among one troupe of entertainers sent to Southeast Asia by the State Department, in which the star of the show, Joey Adams, received $1,200 a week.

Rep. William B. Widnall, R-N. J., has introduced a resolution to set a ceiling for $425 a week on the pay of any entertainer hired for the program. This would provide top pay at the annual rate of $22,100, still somewhat higher than the pay of generals, but below that of congressmen and Cabinet members.

SPORTS SECTION—Rep. Clark MacGregor, of Minnesota, has designated his office on Capitol Hill as the official Washington information service on the doings of the Minnesota Twins in their race for the American League baseball pennant.

MacGregor has a sign on his office door reading "Home of the Twins," and ever since he had it put up he's been ribbed by his neighbors who open the door and shout some wisecracks like "Did he really have twins?"

But baseball fan and civic rooter MacGregor is happy about the way things are going, both for the team and for himself. He's become so identified with the surprising team that even visitors inquire first how the Twins did in their latest game, and only afterward state their reason for coming to his office.

Rep. Powell's Hotel 2400 Venture Stirs Up Furor Along Embassy Row

By Drew Pearson

WASHINGTON — The one-man, two-girl junket to Europe on women's opportunities by Rep. Adam Clayton Powell of Harlem has stirred up plenty of furor on Capitol Hill. But equal furor is beginning to boil up along Embassy Row in Washington over the real-estate operations of the same Congressman.

He has applied for and been given a letter of feasibility for a $4,250,000 FHA loan to take over the Hotel 2400 on 16th Street, the onetime Embassy Row, and make it into a home for elderly Negroes.

This part of 16th Street is across from the Spanish Embassy, and not far from the Italian, Mexican, Polish and Cuban Embassies. It was once considered the swankiest part of Washington, and was part of the tug-of-war between the late Mrs. John Henderson, prominent Washington socialite, who wanted the embassies built along 16th Street where she lived, and Mrs. Katherine McCormick, mother of the late publisher of the Chicago Tribune, whose wish was to create Embassy Row along Massachusetts Ave., where she lived.

The Congressman from Harlem has gone into quite a few real-estate ventures lately, working through the Adam Clayton Powell Foundation, which in turn is operated in conjunction with the Abyssinian Baptist Church, largest Baptist church in the world, of which he is founder.

The Congressman from Harlem has built a cooperative apartment house with federal and state funds, under the Mitchell-Lama act, at 135th Street and Lenox Avenue, in Harlem; also has started work on an old people's home which is to be built at Mt. Morris Park, in Harlem, financed with federal funds.

Memorial To Father

The Hotel 2400 on 16th Street which Powell proposes to transform into an old people's home for Negroes will be a memorial to his father. It is now the residence of Miss Corrine Huff, the first Negro to win the title of Miss Ohio State and who later became a runner-up in a Miss Universe contest. She has been a $417-a-month receptionist for the Congressman and was taken by him on the recent European junket, for which the State Department cabled to secure hotel reservations, theater tickets, choice seats at the Lido night club in Paris, a motorboat in Venice, and a cruise through the Greek Islands —largely with counterpart funds at the taxpayers' expense.

The Adam Clayton Powell Foundation already has an option on the Hotel 2400 from its owner, Robert Kaufman in New York, expiring on September 30. The foundation's agent, Richard Sherrill, is pushing hard for a final loan from the Federal Housing Administration.

This has put the head of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, Robert Weaver, highest-ranking Negro in government, in a difficult spot. The FHA chief under him is Neal J. Hardy.

Preliminary OK

Mr. Hardy's office had given the Adam Clayton Powell Foundation preliminary OK on a $4,250,000 loan to purchase and remodel Hotel 2400, but when Powell's representatives came in with a request for $250,000 more on the ground that building costs had gone up, FHA began taking a second look.

Meanwhile, the pressures have begun to build up, both for and against a home for elderly Negroes on 16th Street. One argument for it is that the Liberian Embassy is at 5201 16th Street and the Ghana Embassy is at 2460 16th Street, almost directly across the street.

It's also argued that the Adams-Morgan area, which is adjacent to 16th Street, has been classified for rehabilitation.

Home Finance Administrator Weaver is leaving the decision to FHA Administrator Hardy, with instructions to treat it like any other housing application. Hardy is now taking a good look at the Adam Clayton Powell Foundation. Under the FHA law, it is supposed to have on hand 2 per cent of the amount of money it is borrowing.

So far, the Adam Clayton Powell Foundation doesn't have this much money. Originally, it was reported that other churches were behind it. This, however, has not proved to be the case.

Note — It is reported that the option for purchase of Hotel 2400, if not exercised by September 30, will not be renewed.

AID TO TOURISTS

For years, the taxpaying tourists have been treated like country cousins in Washington. They must endure not only the summer heat but other ordeals, such as inadequate parking and restaurant facilities, while sight-seeing with their families.

Capitol Hill offers the worst accommodations of all for tourists, many of whom travel hundreds — even thousands — of miles for a closeup look at Congress, the Lincoln and Jefferson Memorials, the Washington Monument, Mount Vernon, etc.

Except for a few public parking spaces on Capitol Plaza, which are always crowded, there are virtually no accommodations for visitors' autos near the Capitol building. Nor is there an adequate restaurant on the Hill where tourists can eat.

However, GOP Rep. Fred Schwengel of Iowa, president of the U. S. Capitol Historical Society, plans to change all this. Schwengel is perfecting plans for a huge tourist "rest center" about a mile from the Capitol near the Potomac River.

The center will include a vast parking area, a large cafeteria and restaurant, rest rooms, and service facilities for automobiles. In addition, there will be free buses to the Capitol. Schwengel plans to finance the long-needed project with funds from the Historical Society, raised by popular subscription.

Valley Of The Fallen: 2

MADRID, Spain — The priest and I turned our backs to the valley and, standing on the mountain peak, looked up to the cross. It is 450 feet tall, of solid granite, and a small elevator runs up inside. Two automobiles could drive abreast across the arms. At the base are heroic statues, in stone, of Matthew, Mark, Luke and John. This ornament weighs 201,000 tons.

In the clear cold mountain air, the cross sways eight to ten inches. Each of the evangilists represents 1,300 pieces of sculptured stone. I could make a bed on the big toe of Saint John. Far below, over the entrance to the Valley of the Fallen, is La Pieta, the dead Christ in his mother's arms. The Fray and I took the elevator down.

All of Soldiers Field could be placed on the granite plaza in front of the basilica. Ten steps lead to it and these represent the Ten Commandments. There are huge carving granite porticos on each side of the main entrance. Here, I saw pilgrims from all over the world, even a Chinese woman in a slit dress, sitting on stone in the cool shade, fanning herself.

There are huge copper doors and, inside, spaced yellow lights grace both walls all the way to the main altar. At the entrance, two guardian angels, 15 feet high, stand in wall niches leaning on their swords as they guard the dead. Then come the grilled gates, filigreed in black iron with gold bands.

The distance between the gates and the choir loft is 780 feet, about 20 feet longer than St. Peter's in Rome. Here, 20,000 persons have knelt in prayer at one time, inside a mountain. On the granite walls are long tapestries, taken from the palace of Carlos I. They represent the history of Spain.

As we walked, the abbott explained. Sometimes, he hesitated for the proper word in English, and appealed to an interpreter, who walked with us. In the ceiling, the mountain boulders show through, thick and tawny, between the neat bands of polished granite.

The entire nave is dedicated to the Mother of God. Here, each side altar has a sculpture, over the entrance, of Madonna and Child and each was executed by a different artist. They are done in alabaster and some are faintly happy, and some are sorrowful. Each one represents a branch of the armed services of Spain and one is Our Lady of Mercy, patron of the prisoners.

A murderer worked in the basilica. He was under sentence of death and whatever he did was so heroic that, in time his life was spared and, eventually, he was freede. When the time came for him to depart, he looked at the basilica and said: "No. I cannot go. My home is here."

In the transept of the church there are pews. Up high on each wall are four statues of hooded men in meditation. They were ordered by Franco, and they represent the army, navy, air force and militia of the nationalists and Communists. They will meditate over the dead for the next few thousand years.

The main altar is simple. It is made of circular steps in chocolate marble so that, in effect, there is no front or back to the altar. Under the altar cloth is a single piece of thick granite, which stretches all the way across. Over it is a cross, a real juniper tree with the bark still on it.

Gen. Franco cut this himself, fitted the pieces together, and asked a sculptor to place on it the figure of Jesus. A single beam of light comes from the top of the cupola overhead, to light the figure of Christ. There is no agony in the face, just serenity as He raises His eyes up to the light for the last time.

Allegany, Beall And Southern Play Friday Night Games At Home

Campers Face Martinsburg In CVAL Contest

Mountaineers Battle Meyersdale; Ridgeley Entertains Berkeley

Coach Richard "Dick" Harmison's Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs come here tonight to do battle with Allegany High School's Campers in the opening game for both teams in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League.

Both schools kicked off the lid last weekend when Martinsburg jolted Keyser High School on its home field, 13-7, while Allegany went down to defeat at the hands of Bishop Guilfoyle High School at Altoona, Pa., by the score of 13-0.

The West Virginians whipped the Campers at Martinsburg last season, 25-20, after having taken three straight shellackings from the locals.

Coach Harmison is a son-in-law of Melvin M. Heiskell, principal of Ridgeley High School and this is his third year at Martinsburg where his teams have won eight, lost twelve and played one tie game.

Tonight's game, set for 8 o'clock, is the 37th of the series between the schools. Allegany leads in victories, 21 to 12, with three tie games.

Meyersdale at Beall

Two other games are on tap for Friday night. Jerry Calhoun's Beall High Mountaineers will entertain Meyersdale High School in the Mountain City and Tom Domen's Highlanders from Southern High School will host the West Virginia School for the Deaf in a Potomac Valley Conference contest at Oakland.

Beall eked out a 13-12 decision over Petersburg High's Vikings in a P.V.C. contest held last Friday night while in another conference tilt Southern went down before George Hott's Moorefield Yellowjackets, 13-6.

Berkeley At Ridgeley

This afternoon at Ridgeley, Tom O'Connors' Ridgeley High Blackhawks will host Berkeley Springs at 2:30 p.m., Keyser High's Golden Tornado plays a 2 p.m., game with Kenny Sims' Charles Town Panthers at Charles Town, Romney High's Pioneers oppose the Franklin Panthers at Franklin in a P.V.C. affair, and Circleville High's Indians invade Tucker County to do battle with Stanley Sedmock's Mountaineer High gridders at Thomas.

Ridgeley nosed out Circleville last week, 20-18, Berkeley Springs dropped a 19-6 decision to Hancock, Keyser lost to Martinsburg and Romney extended its two-year winning streak to 10 games by whipping Charles Town, 15-0. Franklin battled Green Bank High School to a 6-6 deadlock.

Mountaineer has played two games to date, downing Petersburg, 19-0 and playing a scoreless tie with Lumberport High School. Circleville lost to Ridgeley.

Paul Imphong's Hancock High eleven will be shooting for win No. 2 when it meets Musselman High today at Hancock, North Hagerstown's Hubs, trounced last week by William Penn High at York, Pa., 33-6, opens its C.V.A.L. season with the Westminster Owls in Pennsylvania tonight, and Bedford's Bisons, victorious over Everett (27-6) hosts the Somerset Eagles tonight. Somerset, incidentally, plays LaSalle here October 12. Westminster launched its season last week with a 14-6 triumph over Gettysburg (Pa.) High School.

Two Games Here Saturday

Two games are on tap here Saturday. St. Francis' Trojans of Morgantown meets LaSalle at 2 p.m., while at 8 o'clock Fort Hill tackles Bell Vocational School of Washington, D. C.

Bruce High School makes its football debut Saturday by entertaining Northern's Huskies of Garrett county, Petersburg is at Moorefield for a P.V.C. engagement. Frederick's Cadets open at Waynesboro, Pa., and Howard County High School visits South Hagerstown High School, which routed Waynesboro last week by the score of 42-19.

Ailments Of Mays And Jay Described As 'Not Serious'

Willie Expected To Play Against Pirates Tonight

CINCINNATI (UPI)— Willie Mays and Joey Jay may be lost to the San Francisco Giants and Cincinnati Reds, respectively, for a few days after suffering mishaps in Wednesday night's game.

The ailments were described Thursday as "not serious" by Dr. George Ballou, Cincinnati team physician, who attended both players in Christ Hospital.

Mays, who fainted in the Giants' dugout during the third inning after suffering from what was described as probably an attack of indigestion, will miss Thursday night's game but will rejoin the Giants Friday in Pittsburgh.

The star centerfielder who leads the major leagues with 43 home runs spent a comfortable night in the hospital and will be detained for another night to rest. Manager Al Dark hoped Mays would be able to play against the Pirates Friday.

Results Not Available

Dr. Ballou administered tests to Mays Thursday morning to determine the cause of the attack. Results of the tests have not been made public.

Mays suffered a similar attack and passed out in a Milwaukee hotel before a game in April of 1961. On that occasion, however, he missed only that night's game and came back the following day to hit four home runs in a doubleheader.

Jay, right-handed pitching ace of the Reds, was hit on the pitching hand by a line drive off the bat of Chuck Hiller in the fifth inning after shutting out the Giants for the first four innings.

The 21-game winner was removed from the game and sent to Christ Hospital for precautionary X rays that proved negative. His injury was described as a "bruised index finger."

Won't Miss Turn

Manager Fred Hutchinson hoped Jay would be able to pitch in his regular turn this weekend against the Mets in New York. Jay may miss that one turn, however.

The injury to Jay occurred minutes after Dark protested the game because Jay was using what he called "an illegal pitching motion." Dark claimed Jay was varying his windup and was not coming to the required full stop at the end of his stretch.

Dark met with National League President Warren C. Giles Thursday to discuss his protest, but Giles turned it down on the grounds that under the present language of the pitching rules, "I do not feel justified in calling Jay's movement an illegal pitch."

However, Giles said that he "intends to discuss the subject" at a meeting with Commissioner Ford Frick and American and National League umpires and managers prior to the World Series.

Twins Trim Chisox, 5-1

Kralick Victor Over Buzhardt

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins kept their slim pennant hopes alive Thursday, beating Chicago 5-1 and snapping a four-game losing streak.

The victory pulled the Twins back to within five games of the idle New York Yankees, the American League leaders.

Lefty Jack Kralick (11-9) was the Twins' stopper, holding the White Sox to eight hits and halting a five-game winning skein by the Sox.

Minnesota slashed 10 hits to come barreling out of the hitting doldrums that had kept the Twins down to one run in 30 innings.

That streak ended quickly when reserve third baseman George Banks drove home a run in the first with a sacrifice fly. Banks filled in for third baseman Rich Rollins — giving the redhead his first rest of the season.

Zoilo Versalles tripled home another run in the second and Bo Allison belted a bases-loaded single in the third to run the score to 4-0 before Chicago scored in the fourth on Mike Hershberger's double.

Detroit Belts Boston, 14-6

Four Hit Homers, Bunning Cops 17th

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers belted four homers in support of Jim Bunning's 17th victory Thursday, beating the Boston Red Sox 14-6 in the opener of a scheduled doubleheader.

The nightcap, last meeting of the season between the two clubs, was canceled because of rain after 2½ scoreless innings.

Rocky Colavito, Al Kaline, Chico Fernandez and Norm Cash homered as the Tigers jumped to a 10-0 lead.

Boston scored four times in the seventh on six successive hits and added two runs in the eighth on Pumpsie Green's homer.

Colavito and Cash each hit his 36th homer in a bid for the league championship. Kaline's and Fernandez' were for three runs each as the Tigers snapped a four-game losing streak.

Ed Wimer New Coach At Franklin

Harlan Hott Goes To Newport News

Edwin Wimer, Jr., has succeeded Harlan Hott as head coach of football, basketball and baseball at Franklin High School in Pendleton county, W. Va., and directed the Panthers last Friday when they battled Green Bank High School to a 6-6 tie in the opening game of the grid season.

Wimer is a graduate of Franklin High School and Shepherd College. While attending Franklin High School he excelled in football, basketball and baseball.

Harlan Hott, brother of George Hott, football and baseball coach at Moorefield High School, left Franklin to become a member of the faculty at Newport News (Va.) High School where he is coaching junior varsity football.

During his two years as head coach of three sports at Franklin High School, the Panthers won six, lost eight and played one tie in football, scored 15 wins against 27 losses in basketball and copped five of 15 baseball games.

John Jenkins caught only two passes for Pitt last season but both were good for touchdowns. He has two seasons left.

Fading Angels Lose 5-4 Battle To Kansas City

Drop Into Third, 5½ Games Behind

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gino Cimoli's eighth-inning single—his third hit of the game—brought in the winning run Thursday as the Kansas City Athletics knocked the Los Angeles Angels out of second place, 5-4.

The defeat dropped the Angels a half game behind Minnesota and 5½ games behind the American League-leading New York Yankees.

The Athletics trailed 4-3 after seven innings but pinch hitter Wayne Causey walked with two out in the eighth and scored on a pinch double by John Wojcik. Wojcik came home with the deciding run when Cimoli bounced a single to right.

Dave Wickersham, the second of three Kansas City pitchers, stopped the Angels on one hit relief for two innings and scored his ninth victory in 12 decisions. Right-hander Don Lee, driven out in the eighth, took the loss. He is 11-11.

Worsham Is Leader

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Host pro Lew Worsham tacked a 73 onto his opening round 77 for a 150 and the second round lead Thursday in the 32nd annual Tri-State PGA championship at the Oakmont Country Club.

Worsham's one-over par 73 was one stroke better than the round played by Ed Furgol of the Westmoreland Country club who nailed down second place after 36 holes with a 151 total. Both Worsham and Furgol are former National Open champions.

Perkins Predicts He Will Kayo Loi Within 7th Round

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Eddie Perkins, the American challenger to the world junior welterweight crown, predicted Thursday he would kayo titleholder Duilio Loi of Italy in their title bout Friday night.

"I will kayo Loi within the seventh round of our scheduled 15 rounder," Perkins confidently forecast. "I was awarded a draw in another title fight with Loi last October, when I was sure I was robbed of the title. But this time I have changed my tactics and I know how to handle him. The fight will last no more than seven rounds and will end with a kayo."

Perkins, a dashing Negro fighter from Chicago, is in perfect shape, and observers who watched him training at a local gym said he looked as if he could fulfill his promise and return to the United States with the world crown.

On the other hand, Loi does not appear to be in very good form. At the age of 33, with 121 fights behind him — including 112 wins, seven draws and only two defeats by decision—the husky Trieste-born fighter refuses to step out of the limelight. But how long he can resist is anybody's guess.

Piersall Arrested In Baltimore For Disorderly Conduct

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Jimmy Piersall of the Washington Senators was arrested Thursday night on disorderly conduct charges for struggling with a police sergeant, who restrained the tiery outfielder from reaching a taunting fan at Memorial Stadium.

General Manager Ed Doherty posted a $53 bail bond and Piersall was back in uniform for Thursday night's game with the Baltimore Orioles. Piersall is scheduled to appear before Judge Robert Hammerman Friday morning to answer the charges of police Sergeant Walter Mina in Baltimore City Municipal Court.

The incident occurred during pre-game drills Thursday night when, according to usher Tillery Ebert, the fan, Joseph Martin, 66, of Baltimore, repeatedly yelled in a loud voice: "Piersall, you're a crazy man. You ought to be in Spring Grove State Hospital (Maryland mental institution)."

Allegany, Beall And Southern Play Friday Night Games At Home

Campers Face Martinsburg In CVAL Contest

Mountaineers Battle Meyersdale; Ridgeley Entertains Berkeley

Coach Richard "Dick" Harmison's Martinsburg High School's Bulldogs come here tonight to do battle with Allegany High School's Campers in the opening game for both teams in the Cumberland Valley Athletic League.

Both schools kicked off the lid last weekend when Martinsburg jolted Keyser High School on its home field, 13-7, while Allegany went down to defeat at the hands of Bishop Guilfoyle High School at Altoona, Pa., by the score of 13-0.

The West Virginians whipped the Campers at Martinsburg last season, 25-20, after having taken three straight shellackings from the locals.

Coach Harmison is a son-in-law of Melvin M. Heiskell, principal of Ridgeley High School and this is his third year at Martinsburg where his teams have won eight, lost twelve and played one tie game.

Tonight's game, set for 8 o'clock, is the 37th of the series between the schools. Allegany leads in victories, 21 to 12, with three tie games.

Meyersdale at Beall

Two other games are on tap for Friday night. Jerry Calhoun's Beall High Mountaineers will entertain Meyersdale High School in the Mountain City and Tom Domen's Highlanders from Southern High School will host the West Virginia School for the Deaf in a Potomac Valley Conference contest at Oakland.

Beall eked out a 13-12 decision over Petersburg High's Vikings in a P.V.C. contest held last Friday night while in another conference tilt Southern went down before George Hott's Moorefield Yellowjackets, 13-6.

Berkeley At Ridgeley

This afternoon at Ridgeley, Tom O'Connors' Ridgeley High Blackhawks will host Berkeley Springs at 2:30 p.m., Keyser High's Golden Tornado plays a 2 p.m., game with Kenny Sims' Charles Town Panthers at Charles Town, Romney High's Pioneers oppose the Franklin Panthers at Franklin in a P.V.C. affair, and Circleville High's Indians invade Tucker County to do battle with Stanley Sedmock's Mountaineer High gridders at Thomas.

Ridgeley nosed out Circleville last week, 20-18, Berkeley Springs dropped a 19-6 decision to Hancock, Keyser lost to Martinsburg and Romney extended its two-year winning streak to 10 games by whipping Charles Town, 15-0. Franklin battled Green Bank High School to a 6-6 deadlock.

Mountaineer has played two games to date, downing Petersburg, 19-0 and playing a scoreless tie with Lumberport High School. Circleville lost to Ridgeley.

Paul Imphong's Hancock High eleven will be shooting for win No. 2 when it meets Musselman High today at Hancock, North Hagerstown's Hubs, trounced last week by William Penn High at York, Pa., 33-6, opens its C.V.A.L. season with the Westminster Owls in Pennsylvania tonight, and Bedford's Bisons, victorious over Everett (27-6) hosts the Somerset Eagles tonight. Somerset, incidentally, plays LaSalle here October 12. Westminster launched its season last week with a 14-6 triumph over Gettysburg (Pa.) High School.

Two Games Here Saturday

Two games are on tap here Saturday. St. Francis' Trojans of Morgantown meets LaSalle at 2 p.m., while at 8 o'clock Fort Hill tackles Bell Vocational School of Washington, D. C.

Bruce High School makes its football debut Saturday by entertaining Northern's Huskies of Garrett county, Petersburg is at Moorefield for a P.V.C. engagement, Frederick's Cadets open at Waynesboro, Pa., and Howard County High School visits South Hagerstown High School, which routed Waynesboro last week by the score of 42-19.

Ailments Of Mays And Jay Described As 'Not Serious'

Willie Expected To Play Against Pirates Tonight

CINCINNATI (UPI)— Willie Mays and Joey Jay may be lost to the San Francisco Giants and Cincinnati Reds, respectively, for a few days after suffering mishaps in Wednesday night's game.

The ailments were described Thursday as "not serious" by Dr. George Ballou, Cincinnati team physician, who attended both players in Christ Hospital.

Mays, who fainted in the Giants' dugout during the third inning after suffering from what was described as probably an attack of indigestion, will miss Thursday night's game but will rejoin the Giants Friday in Pittsburgh.

The star centerfielder who leads the major leagues with 43 home runs spent a comfortable night in the hospital and will be detained for another night to rest. Manager Al Dark hoped Mays would be able to play against the Pirates Friday.

Results Not Available

Dr. Ballou administered tests to Mays Thursday morning to determine the cause of the attack. Results of the tests have not been made public.

Mays suffered a similar attack and passed out in a Milwaukee hotel before a game in April of 1961. On that occasion, however, he missed only that night's game and came back the following day to hit four home runs in a doubleheader.

Jay, right-handed pitching ace of the Reds, was hit on the pitching hand by a line drive off the bat of Chuck Hiller in the fifth inning after shutting out the Giants for the first four innings.

The 21-game winner was removed from the game and sent to Christ Hospital for precautionary X rays that proved negative. His injury was described as a "bruised index finger."

Won't Miss Turn

Manager Fred Hutchinson hoped Jay would be able to pitch in his regular turn this weekend against the Mets in New York. Jay may miss that one turn, however.

The injury to Jay occurred minutes after Dark protested the game because Jay was using what he called "an illegal pitching motion." Dark claimed Jay was varying his windup and was not coming to the required full stop at the end of his stretch.

Dark met with National League President Warren C. Giles Thursday to discuss his protest, but Giles turned it down on the grounds that under the present language of the pitching rules, "I do not feel justified in calling Jay's movement an illegal pitch."

However, Giles said that he "intends to discuss the subject" at a meeting with Commissioner Ford Frick and American and National League umpires and managers prior to the World Series.

Miller, Porter, Bowen Advance At Maplehurst

Seeking his sixth straight title, Charley Miller advanced to the semi-final round in the championship flight of the Maplehurst Country Club fall golf tourney by defeating Charles Pinto, 1 up in 18 holes. Pinto won the first tourney in 1956.

Miller Bowen defeated Al Comer, 1 up on the 18th, and Bob Porter downed Glenn Hanna, 1 up on the 18th, to move to the semi-final round in the first flight.

Pairings for the fifth flight are: Dick Wilkinson vs. Adam Kalbaugh, H. A. King vs. Dick Christopher, Frank Peretti vs. Bill Wood. Hymie Stevenson drew a bye. Matches must be completed by Thursday, September 20.

Twins Trim Chisox, 5-1

Kralick Victor Over Buzhardt

MINNEAPOLIS-ST. PAUL (AP) — The Minnesota Twins kept their slim pennant hopes alive Thursday, beating Chicago 5-1 and snapping a four-game losing streak.

The victory pulled the Twins back to within five games of the idle New York Yankees, the American League leaders.

Lefty Jack Kralick (11-9) was the Twins' stopper, holding the White Sox to eight hits and halting a five-game winning skein by the Sox.

Minnesota slashed 10 hits to come barreling out of the hitting doldrums that had kept the Twins down to one run in 30 innings.

That streak ended quickly when reserve third baseman George Banks drove home a run in the first with a sacrifice fly. Banks filled in for third baseman Rich Rollins — giving the redhead his first rest of the season.

Zoilo Versalles tripled home another run in the second and Bo Allison belted a bases-loaded single in the third to run the score to 4-0 before Chicago scored in the fourth on Mike Hershberger's double.

Four Hit Homers, Bunning Cops 17th

DETROIT (AP) — The Detroit Tigers belted four homers in support of Jim Bunning's 17th victory Thursday, beating the Boston Red Sox 14-6 in the opener of a scheduled doubleheader.

The nightcap, last meeting of the season between the two clubs, was canceled because of rain after 2½ scoreless innings.

Rocky Colavito, Al Kaline, Chico Fernandez and Norm Cash homered as the Tigers jumped to a 10-0 lead.

Boston scored four times in the seventh on six successive hits and added two runs in the eighth on Pumpsie Green's homer.

Colavito and Cash each hit his 36th homer in a bid for the league championship. Kaline's and Fernandez' were for three runs each as the Tigers snapped a four-game losing streak.

Ed Wimer New Coach At Franklin

Harlan Hott Goes To Newport News

Edwin Wimer, Jr., has succeeded Harlan Hott as head coach of football, basketball and baseball at Franklin High School in Pendleton county, W. Va., and directed the Panthers last Friday when they battled Green Bank High School to a 6-6 tie in the opening game of the grid season.

Wimer is a graduate of Franklin High School and Shepherd College. While attending Franklin High School he excelled in football, basketball and baseball.

Harlan Hott, brother of George Hott, football and baseball coach at Moorefield High School, left Franklin to become a member of the faculty at Newport News (Va.) High School where he is coaching junior varsity football.

During his two years as head coach of three sports at Franklin High School, the Panthers won six, lost eight and played one tie in football, scored 15 wins against 27 losses in basketball and copped five of 15 baseball games.

John Jenkins caught only two passes for Pitt last season but both were good for touchdowns. He has two seasons left.

Fading Angels Lose 5-4 Battle To Kansas City

Drop Into Third, 5½ Games Behind

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Gino Cimoli's eighth-inning single—his third hit of the game—brought in the winning run Thursday as the Kansas City Athletics knocked the Los Angeles Angels out of second place, 5-4.

The defeat dropped the Angels a half game behind Minnesota and 5½ games behind the American League-leading New York Yankees.

The Athletics trailed 4-3 after seven innings but pinch hitter Wayne Causey walked with two out in the eighth and scored on a pinch double by John Wojcik. Wojcik came home with the deciding run when Cimoli bounced a single to right.

Dave Wickersham, the second of three Kansas City pitchers, stopped the Angels on one hit relief for two innings and scored his ninth victory in 12 decisions. Right-hander Don Lee, driven out in the eighth, took the loss. He is 11-11.

Worsham Is Leader

PITTSBURGH (UPI)—Host pro Lew Worsham tacked a 73 onto his opening round 77 for a 150 and the second round lead Thursday in the 32nd annual Tri-State PGA championship at the Oakmont Country Club.

Worsham's one-over par 73 was one stroke better than the round played by Ed Furgol of the Westmoreland Country club who nailed down second place after 36 holes with a 151 total. Both Worsham and Furgol are former National Open champions.

Perkins Predicts He Will Kayo Loi Within 7th Round

MILAN, Italy (UPI) — Eddie Perkins, the American challenger to the world junior welterweight crown, predicted Thursday he would kayo titleholder Duilio Loi of Italy in their title bout Friday night.

"I will kayo Loi within the seventh round of our scheduled 15 rounder," Perkins confidently forecast. "I was awarded a draw in another title fight with Loi last October, when I was sure I was robbed of the title. But this time I have changed my tactics and I know how to handle him. The fight will last no more than seven rounds and will end with a kayo."

Perkins, a dashing Negro fighter from Chicago, is in perfect shape, and observers who watched him training at a local gym said he looked as if he could fulfill his promise and return to the United States with the world crown.

On the other hand, Loi does not appear to be in very good form. At the age of 33, with 121 fights behind him — including 112 wins, seven draws and only two defeats by decision—the husky Trieste-born fighter refuses to step out of the limelight. But how long he can resist is anybody's guess.

Piersall Arrested In Baltimore For Disorderly Conduct

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Jimmy Piersall of the Washington Senators was arrested Thursday night on disorderly conduct charges for struggling with a police sergeant, who restrained the fiery outfielder from reaching a taunting fan at Memorial Stadium.

General Manager Ed Doherty posted a $53 bail bond and Piersall was back in uniform for Thursday night's game with the Baltimore Orioles. Piersall is scheduled to appear before Judge Robert Hammerman Friday morning to answer the charges of police Sergeant Walter Mina in Baltimore City Municipal Court.

The incident occurred during pre-game drills Thursday night when, according to usher Tillery Ebert, the fan, Joseph Martin, 66, of Baltimore, repeatedly yelled in a loud voice: "Piersall, you're a crazy man. You ought to be in Spring Grove State Hospital (Maryland mental institution)."

Hyndman Knocks Old Germans Out Of Softball Tournament, 4-1

Central Lunch Is Winner, 3-1, Hess Whiffs 14

Brelsford Tosses 3-Hitter; Quarter Finals Set Monday

First round play in the Western Maryland Softball Tournament was completed last night at Penn Avenue Field with a pair of games. Hyndman defeated the Old Germans, 4-1, in the opener and Central Lunch scored a 3-1 decision over the Church All-Stars.

The quarter finals will be played on Monday at Penn Avenue, according to Earl Nonnenmann, director of the third annual Hot Stove League-sponsored tourney.

A doubleheader Monday will pit defending champion Veterans of Foreign Wars against Ellerslie in the opener at 6 p.m., and Moose versus the Misfits in the second game.

Hyndman, Central Bye

Hyndman and Central Lunch drew quarter-final byes and will meet in the semi-finals Tuesday in the second game of a twin-bill. The first contest, at 6 p.m., will bring together Monday night's winners. The championship battle will be played Wednesday at six, with a consolation contest for third place to follow.

Junior Brelsford, hurling ace of Hyndman's County Leaguers, gave up two hits and a run to the Rec League-affiliated Old Germans in the first inning, but had little trouble thereafter.

The Old Germans scored on a single by Fay Often which drove in Ronnie Emerick from third. The latter had reached base on an error and moved to third on Jim Dunn's base knock. Often's single later in the game was the only other hit surrendered by Brelsford.

Vohn Lehman supplied the batting power for Hyndman with a bases-empty home run in the third and a three-run circuit wallop in the fifth to account for all of the winners' scoring.

Hess Whiffs 14

Standout pitching also featured the nightcap, as Gene Hess of Central Lunch tossed a two-hitter and struck out 14 batters. Hess failed to walk a man, but hit one batsman in the fifth inning. He yielded singles to Arlie Dolly and Bill Self.

The Luncheoners scored all their runs in the first three innings. They scored a pair in the first, one on a passed ball and the other on a single by John Yaider. No player had more than one hit for the winners, who collected a total of six off losing pitcher Ronnie Peters.

Short Decisions Warren Spahn, 2-1

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Johnny Callison hit a one-out homer in the ninth inning Thursday night to give the Philadelphia Phillies and Chris Short a 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves and Warren Spahn.

It marked the second game in a row that Short, who will be 25 years old next week, outdueled the 41-year-old Brave southpaw. He beat Spahn 4-2 in Milwaukee last Sunday.

Short survived a hectic ninth inning. Two singles and a walk with two out filled the bases and then Spahn, bidding for his 324th victory, hit a solid line drive which Don Demeter took in centerfield.

The triumph gave Short a 10-8 record and set Spahn's log at 14-14.

Colts Begin Unraveling Ticket Snarl

Missing Employe Blamed For Snafu

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts began an around-the-clock operation Thursday in an effort to unravel a monumental ticket snarl three days in advance of their home opener.

The National Football League club reported Thursday an undetermined number of season books and single-game tickets, valued at from $20,000 to $35,000 were missing along with a box office employe.

Don Kellett, general manager of the Colts, said the employe's wife voluntarily turned over more than $16,000 to the club Wednesday. She was given a receipt for the cash, which was placed into a special banking account, Kellett said.

"As yet, we do not know what this money represents," the Colt official said.

Boarded Airliner

Kellett said the missing employe was last seen late Monday night, and an airline reported a passenger using the man's name left Baltimore on a nonstop flight to Los Angeles at 10:45 a. m. Tuesday.

In addition to opening their ticket office on a 24-hour basis, the Colts ran four column advertisements in local newspapers addressed to "Baltimore Colt season ticket holders."

"The Colts deeply regret," the ad began, "one of our former employes has wrongfully sold tickets belonging to some of our season ticket holders."

The NFL club estimated that 500 to 1,000 season books and an undetermined number of single tickets were missing. Kellett said about 6,000 tickets were left for Sunday's opening game and about 9,000 for each of the other six home games.

Ticket Sale Halted

Ticket sales for the Rams game were halted Thursday afternoon pending the unscrambling of the ticket snarl.

A spokesman said the club wanted its staff to concentrate on the problems posed by the disappearance.

The Colts set a club record this year by selling 48,223 season books. An audit of tickets and money was begun after fans called the office to report they had not yet received their season books.

Kellett said the team's bonding company has been notified, members of the Colt organization would be in the Memorial Stadium stands Sunday to absolve any disputes over seats.

Original Tickets Honored

Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Colts, said anyone arriving at the game holding a ticket previously purchased by someone else will be told he must surrender it.

Rosenbloom said his lawyers have assured him the tickets legally belong to the original purchasers.

Those who have purchased tickets legally belonging to someone else, the Colts said, will have the option of obtaining a refund or being given seats in the best available locations.

Estrada Wins For Orioles

Baltimore Beats Washington, 7-1

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Pitcher Chuck Estrada hit his first major league home run and hurled a seven-hitter to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-1 victory over the Washington Senators Thursday night.

Six of the Orioles runs were driven in by homers with Marv Breeding and Jackie Brandt hitting their second and 18th respectively.

Breeding's three-run blast opened the scoring in the fourth inning off Washington starter Don Rudolph. Brooks Robinson doubled in a run in the fifth and Estrada homered off Washington rookie Jack Jenkins after Breeding singled in the sixth.

Brandt hit a solo wallop in the seventh to complete Baltimore's scoring. Estrada, who struck out seven, lost his shutout in the eighth when three singles with two out gave the Senators their run. Bud Zipfel's single scored the run.

The crowd of 3,132 was the smallest for a Baltimore home game this season.

Reds Score 7-2 Win Over Giants

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Jim O'Toole pitched a four-hitter and Frank Robinson tied a team record for doubles in a season as the Cincinnati Reds topped San Francisco, 7-2, Thursday night and knocked the Giants two games behind the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers.

In winning his 16th game of the season, and 12th in his last 16 decisions, O'Toole was in no trouble until the eighth inning when a walk and singles by pinch hitter Carl Boles and Harvey Kuenn produced two runs. He struck out Felipe Alou to end the threat.

Wise Ship Favored In Rich Race

Made 3-1 Choice In U. N. Handicap

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Milton Ritzenberg's Wise Ship has been installed the early 3-1 favorite for Saturday's $100,000 United Nations Handicap over the Atlantic City Race Track turf course.

The 5-year-old bay gelding by Sky Ship-wordly Wise, is accorded the edge over Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, a recent winner over Carry Back and Ridan at Aqueduct. Crozier is rated a 4-1 for this 10th running of the mile and three sixteenth event.

Listed at 6-1 in the apparently wide open race, the entry of Ogden Phipps' Hitting Away and Wheatley Stable's Royal Record; Preston Madden's T. V. Lark and Jerome Fendrick's Art Market. Last year's UN winner, Jacnot Stable's Oink, a non-winner thus far in 1962, is considered a 12-1 outsider.

Although such standouts as Kelso and Carry Back are not in the field, the race could be significant since four times in the past 10 years the winner of the UN has gone on to become grass horse of the year.

Others in the expected field of 12 are Mrs. Connie M. Ring's Windy Sands, Vicgray Farm's Cadiz, H.O.H. Frelinghuysen's Merry Ruler, Montpelier's Mongo, and Briardale Farm's Tumulto. Wise Ship, Hitting Away and T. V .Lark are top weighted at 123 pounds each, with the Argentine multi-stakes winner, Tumulto, the lightweight at 115.

Jockey Heliodoro Gustines has the assignment on Wise Ship, who has won three of 10 starts this year with four seconds, earning $68,347. Trained by Jacob Byer, Wise Ship's slight favoritism probably stems from his recent Kelly-Olympic Handicap victory here by half a length over Hitting Away. Hedley Woodhouse rides Hitting Away, with Avelino Gomez aboard T. V. Lark, 1960 winner of the UN and a good grass runner.

Lane Seeks Revenge In Matthews Scrap

Since then, the flashy Matthews has dropped out of the top 10 ranking, while Lane has made a fine comeback.

Griffith Matched With Don Fullmer

NEW YORK (UPI)—World welterweight champion Emile Griffith will meet Don Fullmer in a 10-round, non-title overweight match at Madison Square Garden Oct. 6, it was announced Thursday.

The fight will mark Griffith's first Garden appearance since his fated meeting with the late Benny (Kid) Paret on March 24.

Griffith regained his title from Paret that night when he knocked out his Cuban opponent. Paret died from injuries suffered in the bout on April 2.

Griffith will be gunning for his seventh straight victory. He has won 31 bouts, lost three and knocked out 11 opponents along the way.

Don, brother of middleweight king Gene, has a record of 27 wins, six losses and one draw. He has nine knockouts to his credit.

Hyndman Knocks Old Germans Out Of Softball Tournament, 4-1

Central Lunch Is Winner, 3-1, Hess Whiffs 14

Brelsford Tosses 3-Hitter; Quarter Finals Set Monday

First round play in the Western Maryland Softball Tournament was completed last night at Penn Avenue Field with a pair of games. Hyndman defeated the Old Germans, 4-1, in the opener and Central Lunch scored a 3-1 decision over the Church All-Stars.

The quarter finals will be played on Monday at Penn Avenue, according to Earl Nonnenmann, director of the third annual Hot Stove League-sponsored tourney.

A doubleheader Monday will pit defending champion Veterans of Foreign Wars against Ellerslie in the opener at 6 p.m., and Moose versus the Misfits in the second game.

Hyndman, Central Bye

Hyndman and Central Lunch drew quarter-final byes and will meet in the semi-finals Tuesday in the second game of a twin-bill. The first contest, at 6 p.m., will bring together Monday night's winners. The championship battle will be played Wednesday at six, with a consolation contest for third place to follow.

Junior Brelsford, hurling ace of Hyndman's County Leaguers, gave up two hits and a run to the Rec League-affiliated Old Germans in the first inning, but had little trouble thereafter.

The Old Germans scored on a single by Ray Often which drove in Ronnie Emerick from third. The latter had reached base on an error and moved to third on Jim Dunn's base knock. Often's single later in the game was the only other hit surrendered by Brelsford.

Vohn Lehman supplied the batting power for Hyndman with a bases-empty home run in the third and a three-run circuit wallop in the fifth to account for all of the winners' scoring.

Hess Whiffs 14

Standout pitching also featured the nightcap, as Gene Hess of Central Lunch tossed a two-hitter and struck out 14 batters. Hess failed to walk a man, but hit one batsman in the fifth inning. He yielded singles to Arlie Dolly and Bill Self.

The Luncheoners scored all their runs in the first three innings. They scored a pair in the first, one on a passed ball and the other on a single by John Yaider. No player had more than one hit for the winners, who collected a total of six off losing pitcher Ronnie Peters.

The linescores:

Short Decisions Warren Spahn, 2-1

PHILADELPHIA (UPI)—Johnny Callison hit a one-out homer in the ninth inning Thursday night to give the Philadelphia Phillies and Chris Short a 2-1 victory over the Milwaukee Braves and Warren Spahn.

It marked the second game in a row that Short, who will be 25 years old next week, outdueled the 41-year-old Brave southpaw. He beat Spahn 4-2 in Milwaukee last Sunday.

Short survived a hectic ninth inning. Two singles and a walk with two out filled the bases and then Spahn, bidding for his 324th victory, hit a solid line drive which Don Demeter took in centerfield.

The triumph gave Short a 10-8 record and set Spahn's log at 14-14.

Stadium Loan Plan Blocked By Council

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) —Philadelphia will have to do without a proposed new $22.7 million sports stadium for another year.

Colts Begin Unraveling Ticket Snarl

Missing Employe Blamed For Snafu

BALTIMORE (AP)—The Baltimore Colts began an around-the-clock operation Thursday in an effort to unravel a monumental ticket snarl three days in advance of their home opener.

The National Football League club reported Thursday an undetermined number of season books and single-game tickets, valued at from $20,000 to $35,000 were missing along with a box office employe.

Don Kellett, general manager of the Colts, said the employe's wife voluntarily turned over more than $16,000 to the club Wednesday. She was given a receipt for the cash, which was placed into a special banking account, Kellett said.

"As yet, we do not know what this money represents," the Colt official said.

Boarded Airliner

Kellett said the missing employe was last seen late Monday night, and an airline reported a passenger using the man's name left Baltimore on a nonstop flight to Los Angeles at 10:45 a. m. Tuesday.

In addition to opening their ticket office on a 24-hour basis, the Colts ran four column advertisements in local newspapers addressed to "Baltimore Colt season ticket holders."

"The Colts deeply regret," the ad began, "one of our former employes has wrongfully sold tickets belonging to some of our season ticket holders."

The NFL club estimated that 500 to 1,000 season books and an undetermined number of single tickets were missing. Kellett said about 6,000 tickets were left for Sunday's opening game and about 9,000 for each of the other six home games.

Ticket Sale Halted

Ticket sales for the Rams game were halted Thursday afternoon pending the unscrambling of the ticket snarl.

A spokesman said the club wanted its staff to concentrate on the problems posed by the disappearance.

The Colts set a club record this year by selling 48,223 season books. An audit of tickets and money was begun after fans called the office to report they had not yet received their season books.

Kellett said the team's bonding company has been notified, members of the Colt organization would be in the Memorial Stadium stands Sunday to absolve any disputes over seats.

Original Tickets Honored

Carroll Rosenbloom, owner of the Colts, said anyone arriving at the game holding a ticket previously purchased by someone else will be told he must surrender it.

Rosenbloom said his lawyers have assured him the tickets legally belong to the original purchasers.

Those who have purchased tickets legally belonging to someone else, the Colts said, will have the option of obtaining a refund or being given seats in the best available locations.

Estrada Wins For Orioles

Baltimore Beats Washington, 7-1

BALTIMORE (UPI) — Pitcher Chuck Estrada hit his first major league home run and hurled a seven-hitter to lead the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-1 victory over the Washington Senators Thursday night.

Six of the Orioles runs were driven in by homers with Marv Breeding and Jackie Brandt hitting their second and 18th respectively.

Breeding's three-run blast opened the scoring in the fourth inning off Washington starter Don Rudolph. Brooks Robinson doubled in a run in the fifth and Estrada homered off Washington rookie Jack Jenkins after Breeding singled in the sixth.

Brandt hit a solo wallop in the seventh to complete Baltimore's scoring. Estrada, who struck out seven, lost his shutout in the eighth when three singles with two out gave the Senators their run. Bud Zipfel's single scored the run.

The crowd of 3,132 was the smallest for a Baltimore home game this season.

Reds Score 7-2 Win Over Giants

CINCINNATI (UPI) — Jim O'Toole pitched a four-hitter and Frank Robinson tied a team record for doubles in a season as the Cincinnati Reds topped San Francisco, 7-2, Thursday night and knocked the Giants two games behind the first-place Los Angeles Dodgers.

In winning his 16th game of the season, and 12th in his last 16 decisions, O'Toole was in no trouble until the eighth inning when a walk and singles by pinch hitter Carl Boles and Harvey Kuenn produced two runs. He struck out Felipe Alou to end the threat.

Wise Ship Favored In Rich Race

Made 3-1 Choice In U. N. Handicap

By RALPH BERNSTEIN
Associated Press Sports Writer

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (AP)—Milton Ritzenberg's Wise Ship has been installed the early 3-1 favorite for Saturday's $100,000 United Nations Handicap over the Atlantic City Race Track turf course.

The 5-year-old bay gelding by Sky Ship-wordly Wise, is accorded the edge over Fred W. Hooper's Crozier, a recent winner over Carry Back and Ridan at Aqueduct. Crozier is rated a 4-1 for this 10th running of the mile and three sixteenth event.

Listed at 6-1 in the apparently wide open race, the entry of Ogden Phipps' Hitting Away and Wheatley Stable's Royal Record; Preston Madden's T. V. Lark and Jerome Fendrick's Art Market. Last year's UN winner, Jacnot Stable's Oink, a non-winner thus far in 1962, is considered a 12-1 outsider.

Although such standouts as Kelso and Carry Back are not in the field, the race could be significant since four times in the past 10 years the winner of the UN has gone on to become grass horse of the year.

Others in the expected field of 12 are Mrs. Connie M. Ring's Windy Sands, Vicgray Farm's Cadiz, H.O.H. Frelinghuysen's Merry Ruler, Montpelier's Mongo, and Briardale Farm's Tumulto. Wise Ship, Hitting Away and T. V .Lark are top weighted at 123 pounds each, with the Argentine multi-stakes winner, Tumulto, the lightweight at 115.

Jockey Heliodoro Gustines has the assignment on Wise Ship, who has won three of 10 starts this year with four seconds, earning $68,347. Trained by Jacob Byer, Wise Ship's slight favoritism probably stems from his recent Kelly-Olympic Handicap victory here by half a length over Hitting Away. Hedley Woodhouse rides Hitting Away, with Avelino Gomez aboard T. V. Lark, 1960 winner of the UN and a good grass runner.

Lane Seeks Revenge In Matthews Scrap

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Kenny Lane, No. 1 ranking junior welterweight, seeks a measure of revenge Saturday night in his nationally televised (ABC) 10-rounder against Philadelphia's Len Matthews.

Lane of Muskegon, Mich., was stopped by Matthews, then a top lightweight contender, in the third round of a scheduled 10-rounder at Los Angeles in October 1960.

Since then, the flashy Matthews has dropped out of the top 10 ranking, while Lane has made a fine comeback.

Recall Nofsinger

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Steelers recalled waivers Thursday on reserve quarterback Terry Nofsinger, formerly of Utah.

A Steelers spokesman said the 24-year-old Nofsinger will be available for duty against the Detroit Lions in the Steelers' National Football League opener Sunday.

The addition of Nofsinger, who was released Tuesday, places the Steelers at the 36-man NFL player limit.

Griffith Matched With Don Fullmer

NEW YORK (UPI)—World welterweight champion Emile Griffith will meet Don Fullmer in a 10-round, non-title overweight match at Madison Square Garden Oct. 6, it was announced Thursday.

The fight will mark Griffith's first Garden appearance since his fated meeting with the late Benny (Kid) Paret on March 24.

Griffith regained his title from Paret that night when he knocked out his Cuban opponent. Paret died from injuries suffered in the bout on April 2.

Griffith will be gunning for his seventh straight victory. He has won 31 bouts, lost three and knocked out 11 opponents along the way.

Don, brother of middleweight king Gene, has a record of 27 wins, six losses and one draw. He has nine knockouts to his credit.

Giles Says Jay's Delivery Is Legal

CINCINNATI (AP) — Joey Jay of the Cincinnati Reds can keep on using his controversial fast ball delivery—at least for a while.

National League president Warren Giles said Thursday he and Alvin Dark, manager of the San Francisco Giants, discussed Jay's pitching at length.

"I advised Dark that under the language of the present pitching rules, I do not feel justified in calling Jay's movement an illegal pitch," Giles said.

Dark, whose Giants lost to the Reds 4-1 Wednesday night, played the game under protest after he said in the fifth inning that Jay's delivery amounted to a balk.

Jay, who boasts a 21-12 record, said he perfected the new delivery recently.

Aldo (Buff) Donelli of Columbia is in his 20th season as a football coach.

Miss Wright Made Tourney Favorite

SACRAMENTO Calif. (UPI)—the nation's top women golfers—including this season's leading money winner, Mickey Wright—tee off Friday in the second annual $8,500 Sacramento Valley Ladies Open.

A field of 31 proettes and 65 amateurs is entered for the 54-hole three-day tournament over the 6,550-yard, par-74 Valley Hi Country Club links.

The course, just 15-months old, has been shortened by 50 yards and upped two strokes from the par 72 the men usually play. The course record is 70, held by a local amateur.

Miss Wright is rated the favorite on the basis of her eight victories and $15,889 winnings since the long tour started last January. She's also the tourney's defending champ, although it was played on a different course last year.

U.S. Almost Sure To Win America's Cup

Australian Sloop, Crew In Disarray

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — American confidence reached the point of smugness Thursday as defender Weatherly sharpened her racing techniques and Australia's challenging Gretel underwent more tinkering for Saturday's opening clash in the best-of-seven yacht race series for the America's Cup.

"It's like the University of Vermont playing Ohio State in football," said George O'Day, the Olympic gold medalist who has been designated as official spokesman for skipper Emil (Bus) Mosbacher, Jr., of the Weatherly crew.

"We have a superb boat and a superb crew which has been whipped into a perfect unit by Mosbacher and tested in elimination trials. Gretel hasn't had a race. We are as ready as we can be. We feel certain we can win."

Might Score Sweep

Observers in this famous old seaport were almost unanimously of the opinion that the Yanks might take it in four straight — as Columbia did against England's Sceptre in 1958. Few Australians were inclined to dispute it.

The sleek, azure-hulled Weatherly took a morning workout, alone, in the east passage of Narragansett Bay, in exceptionally light northeast breezes.

While the American sloop was cutting capers in the bay, the Australians' blue-suited crew worked feverishly on small details on their beautiful white sloop.

They installed a new jib headstay and worked on the towering, 90-foot aluminum mast, slightly altering the rake. They sawed and chiseled on the decks for some four hours and it was well after lunch before Gretel got away on a practice sail with trial horse Vim.

No Racing Sunday

There will be no racing Sunday out of deference to the archaic rule of the conservative New York Yacht Club that no cannon should be fired on the Sabbath. Competition will be resumed Monday with races daily except when one side exercises its prerogative for a "lay day."

The contrast in the rival headquarters, some two blocks apart, was dramatic.

On the Weatherly, every rope and every line seemed taut and in perfect place. The sloop looked ship-shape. The crew was lighthearted and confident.

Gretel was in utter disarray. The crew gave the appearance of being discouraged, weary and tense.

Both sloops were hauled out late Thursday afternoon for last minute checks of their gear and polishing of their bottoms.

Mrs. Harris Wins First Flight Match

Two final matches in the ladies' fall golf tournament were completed yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club. In the first flight, Mrs. Morgan C. Harris won over Mrs. Charles Herath, 3 and 2. Mrs. Walter Dyck defeated Mrs. Robert Gerson, 8 and 7, in the fourth flight.

One fifth flight match was completed in the men's fall tourney. Harry M. Snowden scored a 3 and 2 victory over Tim Connors.

Broad Hollow 'Cap Won By Longshot

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP) — John M. Schiff's Juventus, longest shot in the field of five, scored an easy victory in the 47th running of the $16,400 Broad Hollow Steeplechase Handicap at Aqueduct race track today.

The 5-year-old son of Shikampur-Juralda, ridden by jockey Joe Aitcheson, stepped the two miles in the moderate time of 3:46 1/5, scoring by nine lengths over Allison Stern's Naval Treaty, who headed Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Blackmail for the place.

Juventus earned a net purse of $10,060 and returned the win and place mutuels of $29.30 and $5.90. Naval Treaty was $4.50 to place. There was no show wagering.

The defeat of the even money favorite entry of Blackmail and Beckys Ship stunned the crowd of 25,484 as it was the sixteenth straight choice to go down to defeat over a three-day period.

U.S. Almost Sure To Win America's Cup

Australian Sloop, Crew In Disarray

By WILL GRIMSLEY
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP) — American confidence reached the point of smugness Thursday as defender Weatherly sharpened her racing techniques and Australia's challenging Gretel underwent more tinkering for Saturday's opening clash in the best-of-seven yacht race series for the America's Cup.

"It's like the University of Vermont playing Ohio State in football," said George O'Day, the Olympic gold medalist who has been designated as official spokesman for skipper Emil (Bus) Mosbacher, Jr., of the Weatherly crew.

"We have a superb boat and a superb crew which has been whipped into a perfect unit by Mosbacher and tested in elimination trials. Gretel hasn't had a race. We are as ready as we can be. We feel certain we can win."

Might Score Sweep

Observers in this famous old seaport were almost unanimously of the opinion that the Yanks might take it in four straight — as Columbia did against England's Sceptre in 1958. Few Australians were inclined to dispute it.

The sleek, azure-hulled Weatherly took a morning workout, alone, in the east passage of Narragansett Bay, in exceptionally light northeast breezes.

While the American sloop was cutting capers in the bay, the Australians' blue-suited crew worked feverishly on small details on their beautiful white sloop.

They installed a new jib headstay and worked on the towering, 90-foot aluminum mast, slightly altering the rake. They sawed and chiseled on the decks for some four hours and it was well after lunch before Gretel got away on a practice sail with trial horse Vim.

No Racing Sunday

There will be no racing Sunday out of deference to the archaic rule of the conservative New York Yacht Club that no cannon should be fired on the Sabbath. Competition will be resumed Monday with races daily except when one side exercises its prerogative for a "lay day."

The contrast in the rival headquarters, some two blocks apart, was dramatic.

On the Weatherly, every rope and every line seemed taut and in perfect place. The sloop looked ship-shape. The crew was lighthearted and confident.

Gretel was in utter disarray. The crew gave the appearance of being discouraged, weary and tense.

Both sloops were hauled out late Thursday afternoon for last minute checks of their gear and polishing of their bottoms.

Mrs. Harris Wins First Flight Match

Two final matches in the ladies' fall golf tournament were completed yesterday at the Cumberland Country Club. In the first flight, Mrs. Morgan C. Harris won over Mrs. Charles Herath, 3 and 2. Mrs. Walter Dyck defeated Mrs. Robert Gerson, 8 and 7, in the fourth flight.

One fifth flight match was completed in the men's fall tourney. Harry M. Snowden scored a 3 and 2 victory over Tim Connors.

Broad Hollow 'Cap Won By Longshot

NEW YORK, Sept. 13 (AP) — John M. Schiff's Juventus, longest shot in the field of five, scored an easy victory in the 47th running of the $16,400 Broad Hollow Steeplechase Handicap at Aqueduct race track today.

The 5-year-old son of Shikampur-Juralda, ridden by jockey Joe Aitcheson, stepped the two miles in the moderate time of 3:46 1/5, scoring by nine lengths over Allison Stern's Naval Treaty, who headed Mrs. Ogden Phipps' Blackmail for the place.

Juventus earned a net purse of $10,060 and returned the win and place mutuels of $29.30 and $5.90. Naval Treaty was $4.50 to place. There was no show wagering.

The defeat of the even money favorite entry of Blackmail and Beckys Ship stunned the crowd of 25,484 as it was the sixteenth straight choice to go down to defeat over a three-day period.

Stock Market's String Of Advances Shattered

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks turned around in mid-season and drifted slowly downhill Thursday to close lower for the first time in six sessions.

A few buoyant chemicals and oils managed to hold up, however, responding to optimistic news developments in both industries. Du Pont, Allied, American Potash, and Diamond Alkali moved sightly higher following a statement by the president of Dow Chemicals saying he believes the decline in chemical prices is "tapering off" and that growth in many products is "vigorous."

Dow-Jones industrial average was off 2.35 and Standard & Poor's 500 stock index declined 0.14. Trading totaled 3,100,000 shares, unchanged from the previous session.

A total of 1,249 issues changed hands Thursday of which 586 declined and 425 advanced — 19 to new 1962 lows and 5 to new highs.

Stock Market's String Of Advances Shattered

NEW YORK (UPI) — Stocks turned around in mid-season and drifted slowly downhill Thursday to close lower for the first time in six sessions.

A few buoyant chemicals and oils managed to hold up, however, responding to optimistic news developments in both industries. Du Pont, Allied, American Potash, and Diamond Alkali moved sightly higher following a statement by the president of Dow Chemicals saying he believes the decline in chemical prices is "tapering off" and that growth in many products is "vigorous."

Dow-Jones industrial average was off 2.35 and Standard & Poor's 500 stock index declined 0.14. Trading totaled 3,100,000 shares, unchanged from the previous session.

A total of 1,249 issues changed hands Thursday of which 586 declined and 425 advanced — 19 to new 1962 lows and 5 to new highs.

Senate Cloakroom

by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

PRAYER OF OUR FOUNDING FATHERS — A Supreme Court Justice, in a footnote to the Court's decision holding unconstitutional an official prayer composed by one State's Board of Regents, noted: "There is of course nothing in the decision reached here that is inconsistent with the fact that schoolchildren and others are officially encouraged to express love for our country by reciting historical documents such as the Declaration of Independence which contain references to the Deity . . ." Last week, as schools reopened across the United States of America, we could almost hear the chorus of young voices solemnly chanting:

"We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness . . . And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor."

THE BERLIN WALL: Statistics—The Wall is 66 miles long; 27 miles of it is concrete; it uses 6,210 miles of barbed wire; it crosses and blocks off 197 streets. More than 12,300 people have made it to freedom since the Wall went up—among them, 1,000 uniformed East German guards. Add to the escape total 51,056 East Germans who happened to be in West Germany when the Wall went up and chose to stay on the free side.

CUBA: A SOVIET BASE—All indications are that Russia is building up a powerful army and air force on an island only 90 miles from our coast. Between 3,000 and 5,000 Soviet personnel arrived in Cuba in five Soviet passenger ships between July 27 and July 31, and 11 cargo ships arrived and were unloaded by Soviet personnel during the same 4-day period. Trucks were lowered into the holds of the ships, loaded, and covered with tarpaulin before being hauled out to dock. But they couldn't cover everything; eyewitnesses reported seeing tanks, communications trucks, and large truck-trailers carrying crates 40 feet long. This was only the beginning. No less than 61 ships carrying Russian military supplies and men to Cuba have reached the island or are now en route. This must be considered along with Khrushchev's bland statement that the Soviet Union "considers that the Monroe Doctrine has outlived its time . . . has died." The Monroe Doctrine, which says to European nations "Hands off the Western Hemisphere!" was held inviolate by all Administrations from the time it was enunciated in 1823 up until the Kennedy Administration, —and no doubt the Kennedy Administration too will be forced to preserve it.

President Kennedy is in an embarrassing position in regard to Cuba because of the fiasco of the abortive Cuban invasion, with which the White House was involved. At a recent press conference, the President made a point of saying that the Soviet personnel landing in Cuba were not uniformed soldiers. To me, that seems to be splitting hairs, particularly as the cargo which they accompanied and which they unloaded was unquestionably military. As a matter of fact, 5,000 technicians accompanying tanks and big guns and missiles certainly spell at least as much trouble for us as would an equal number of uniformed soldiers. Khrushchev's purpose in sending technicians would be to train Cubans to use the new military equipment—to establish an effective military machine responsive to orders from Moscow. Any way you look at it, it's a Soviet military build-up—with the Russians moving into Cuba in a big way—shipload after shipload. The President cannot belittle this for long. Neither can he much longer avoid decisive action.

The Monroe Doctrine has been violated. Our national security, with the enemy digging in just 90 miles from our coast, is threatened.

We must face this truth: Castro, the present ruler of Cuba, is our avowed enemy—and is conniving with the Russians. If the circumstances in 1960 and 1961 justified decisions by two Administrations (Eisenhower's and Kennedy's) that a United States-sponsored invasion of Cuba was essential, how could the circumstances of today justify less? From the standpoint of international law, the United States has a right to land troops and occupy Cuba unless the Soviet military personnel are expelled and satisfactory guarantees are made that there will be no Soviet build-up of arms and ammunition and war-making potential at our very doorstep. Is it not time for action? We do not want to get bogged down in any long-drawn-out occupation — what Steinbeck called "the flies capturing the flypaper," but I'm sure our capable military leaders can plan and execute whatever is necessary and appropriate for our national security. The longer the United States waits to expel Communism from Cuba, the more difficult will be the job.

THE GAME OF "MUST BILLS" — Every list of "Must Bills" emanating from the White House is different. A bill touted as absolutely necessary this week is forgotten next week, and another bill takes its place on the favored list. There is an implied admission here that some of the recommended legislation, once represented as urgent and pressing, isn't so important after all. Even Senators who are inclined to go along with much of the New Frontier program are critical of the President's "buckshot" approach to legislation, which seems to follow a pattern: (a) Propose a Federal benefit for virtually every segment of the voting public; (b) Label each legislative proposal to Congress as of paramount importance and necessary in the public interest; (c) Get everything on the "Must List" at least once, so as to please every segment; and (d) Confuse the issue by constantly changing the list of "Must Bills," remembering to put on the list some of the bills about to go through anyhow. (There's nothing like being a winner!)

DRUG BILL PASSED — Tight controls on drugs in the United States has been approved—unanimously—by the Senate, and I believe the House of Representatives is favorable to the measure. The bill passed in the Senate is designed to make it most difficult for a dangerous drug to reach to public. Among the changes which the new legislation would make in the present law are these: drug factories would be inspected more thoroughly; drug companies would have to keep additional records; drug ads would have to list the side effects of drugs; and drugs would have to be proved effective by "substantial evidence" before they could be marketed.

OUR VENUS SPACE SHOT "100% PERFECT"—Mariner II, our spacecraft designed to fly close enough to the planet Venus to obtain information about its temperatures, magnetic fields, radiation and other phenomena of environment, is on its way—and flying true to its mark. The Space agency announces that Mariner II will travel past Venus at a distance of about 9,000 miles, exactly as planned. The complicated electronic equipment aboard the spacecraft will send back information as it speeds through space. Mariner II will travel 180,200,000 miles, reaching Venus on December 14. Venus will then be only 36,000,000 miles from Earth. The spacecraft was launched into a trajectory that will carry it the long way around. It weighs 447 pounds and is 16 feet long, including the solar panel spread. It was launched by an Atlas-Agena B rocket, 100 feet tall. The launching was in stages: The Atlas put Agena B into an earth orbit; Agena B served as a space platform from which Mariner II was launched; a week after launching, a radio beam from Earth put Mariner II on its correct course. Its guidance involves sun sensor "nerves," gyroscopes, gas jets, midcourse motor, and radio commands from Earth. Mariner II's speed when released by Agena B was 25,500 miles per hour; when passing Venus, the speed will be accelerated to 91,600 miles per hour.

"SHADES" OF CIVIL DEFENSE—We understand that in an elevator in the Foreign Aid headquarters in Washington is a sign which says: "Defense Procedures for Elevator No. 1: Take shelter. Pick up wardens from all floors and take to third floor. Return to lobby. Note: In case of actual emergency, elevators will not operate."

Senate Cloakroom
by Sen. J. Glenn Beall

PRAYER OF OUR FOUNDING FATHERS — A Supreme Court Justice, in a footnote to the Court's decision holding unconstitutional an official prayer composed by one State's Board of Regents, noted: "There is of course nothing in the decision reached here that is inconsistent with the fact that schoolchildren and others are officially encouraged to express love for our country by reciting historical documents such as the Declaration of Independence which contain references to the Deity . . ." Last week, as schools reopened across the United States of America, we could almost hear the chorus of young voices solemnly chanting: "We hold these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal, that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights, that among these are Life, Liberty, and the pursuit of Happiness . . . And for the support of this Declaration, with a firm reliance on the protection of divine Providence, we mutually pledge to each other our Lives, our Fortunes and our sacred Honor."

THE BERLIN WALL: Statistics—The Wall is 66 miles long; 27 miles of it is concrete; it uses 6,210 miles of barbed wire; it crosses and blocks off 197 streets. More than 12,300 people have made it to freedom since the Wall went up—among them, 1,000 uniformed East German guards. Add to the escape total 51,056 East Germans who happened to be in West Germany when the Wall went up and chose to stay on the free side.

CUBA: A SOVIET BASE—All indications are that Russia is building up a powerful army and air force on an island only 90 miles from our coast. Between 3,000 and 5,000 Soviet personnel arrived in Cuba in five Soviet passenger ships between July 27 and July 31, and 11 cargo ships arrived and were unloaded by Soviet personnel during the same 4-day period. Trucks were lowered into the holds of the ships, loaded, and covered with tarpaulin before being hauled out to dock. But they couldn't cover everything; eyewitnesses reported seeing tanks, communications trucks, and large truck-trailers carrying crates 40 feet long. This was only the beginning. No less than 61 ships carrying Russian military supplies and men to Cuba have reached the island or are now en route. This must be considered along with Khrushchev's bland statement that the Soviet Union "considers that the Monroe Doctrine has outlived its time . . . has died." The Monroe Doctrine, which says to European nations "Hands off the Western Hemisphere!" was held inviolate by all Administrations from the time it was enunciated in 1823 up until the Kennedy Administration, —and no doubt the Kennedy Administration too will be forced to preserve it.

President Kennedy is in an embarrassing position in regard to Cuba because of the fiasco of the abortive Cuban invasion, with which the White House was involved. At a recent press conference, the President made a point of saying that the Soviet personnel landing in Cuba were not uniformed soldiers. To me, that seems to be splitting hairs, particularly as the cargo which they accompanied and which they unloaded was unquestionably military. As a matter of fact, 5,000 technicians accompanying tanks and big guns and missiles certainly spell at least as much trouble for us as would an equal number of uniformed soldiers. Khrushchev's purpose in sending technicians would be to train Cubans to use the new military equipment—to establish an effective military machine responsive to orders from Moscow. Any way you look at it, it's a Soviet military build-up—with the Russians moving into Cuba in a big way—shipload after shipload. The President cannot belittle this for long. Neither can he much longer avoid decisive action.

The Monroe Doctrine has been violated. Our national security, with the enemy digging in just 90 miles from our coast, is threatened.

We must face this truth: Castro, the present ruler of Cuba, is our avowed enemy—and is conniving with the Russians. If the circumstances in 1960 and 1961 justified decisions by two Administrations (Eisenhower's and Kennedy's) that a United States-sponsored invasion of Cuba was essential, how could the circumstances of today justify less? From the standpoint of international law, the United States has a right to land troops and occupy Cuba unless the Soviet military personnel are expelled and satisfactory guarantees are made that there will be no Soviet build-up of arms and ammunition and war-making potential at our very doorstep. Is it not time for action? We do not want to get bogged down in any long-drawn-out occupation — what Steinbeck called "the flies capturing the flypaper," but I'm sure our capable military leaders can plan and execute whatever is necessary and appropriate for our national security. The longer the United States waits to expel Communism from Cuba, the more difficult will be the job.

THE GAME OF "MUST BILLS" — Every list of "Must Bills" emanating from the White House is different. A bill touted as absolutely necessary this week is forgotten next week, and another bill takes its place on the favored list. There is an implied admission here that some of the recommended legislation, once represented as urgent and pressing, isn't so important after all. Even Senators who are inclined to go along with much of the New Frontier program are critical of the President's "buckshot" approach to legislation, which seems to follow a pattern: (a) Propose a Federal benefit for virtually every segment of the voting public; (b) Label each legislative proposal to Congress as of paramount importance and necessary in the public interest; (c) Get everything on the "Must List" at least once, so as to please every segment; and (d) Confuse the issue by constantly changing the list of "Must Bills," remembering to put on the list some of the bills about to go through anyhow. (There's nothing like being a winner!)

DRUG BILL PASSED — Tight controls on drugs in the United States has been approved—unanimously—by the Senate, and I believe the House of Representatives is favorable to the measure. The bill passed in the Senate is designed to make it most difficult for a dangerous drug to reach to public. Among the changes which the new legislation would make in the present law are these: drug factories would be inspected more thoroughly; drug companies would have to keep additional records; drug ads would have to list the side effects of drugs; and drugs would have to be proved effective by "substantial evidence" before they could be marketed.

OUR VENUS SPACE SHOT "100% PERFECT"—Mariner II, our spacecraft designed to fly close enough to the planet Venus to obtain information about its temperatures, magnetic fields, radiation and other phenomena of environment, is on its way—and flying true to its mark. The Space agency announces that Mariner II will travel past Venus at a distance of about 9,000 miles, exactly as planned. The complicated electronic equipment aboard the spacecraft will send back information as it speeds through space. Mariner II will travel 180,200,000 miles, reaching Venus on December 14. Venus will then be only 36,000,000 miles from Earth. The spacecraft was launched into a trajectory that will carry it the long way around. It weighs 447 pounds and is 16 feet long, including the solar panel spread. It was launched by an Atlas-Agena B rocket, 100 feet tall. The launching was in stages: The Atlas put Agena B into an earth orbit; Agena B served as a space platform from which Mariner II was launched; a week after launching, a radio beam from Earth put Mariner II on its correct course. Its guidance involves sun sensor "nerves," gyroscopes, gas jets, midcourse motor, and radio commands from Earth. Mariner II's speed when released by Agena B was 25,500 miles per hour; when passing Venus, the speed will be accelerated to 91,600 miles per hour.

Enrollment Of College Is Doubled

208 Register For Second Term

Regular registration for the new term at Allegany Community College closed last night and Dr. Robert S. Zimmer, the president, reported that registration represented an increase of more than 100 per cent over the level of a year ago.

With last night's registrants, Dr. Zimmer said, the total enrollment was brought to 208 compared with 102 a year ago.

Dr. Zimmer was particularly pleased by the fact that the number of full-time students is nearly three times the level of last year. There are now 84 full-time students compared with 32 last year. Part-time students increased from 70 to 124.

It is still possible for additional students to register at the college up until next Wednesday. Those who wish to register late are advised to contact William H. Smerling, the college registrar, immediately.

Classes for the new term will start Monday. Some 27 courses are being offered this year. The faculty has been completed for the new school year.

Republicans Make Plans For Campaign

The Young Republican Club of Allegany County made plans Wednesday for the club's participation in the coming election campaign and voted to make a substantial donation to the Republican State Central Committee for the campaign.

Robert L. Lewis, president of the club, presided at the meeting which was held at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club.

The club also announced at the meeting it will sponsor a dance October 6 at the Shrine Club. Music will be by the Gentlemen of Note Orchestra.

Gerald Barb, a member of the State Central Committee, gave a report on the campaign plans and activities of the committee, and William Sullivan reported on the voter registration project.

James H. Smith was appointed chairman of the membership committee and he announced plans for a new membership drive.

The meeting also included a talk by Kenneth Lowe, vice chairman of the Republican Campaign Committee, who announced plans for the formation of precinct organizations which will begin a house-to-house canvass tomorrow afternoon.

Donald W. Mason, vice president of the Maryland Federation of GOP Clubs, gave a report on his recent attendance at a meeting of the federation where plans were outlined for the coming election.

Mr. Lewis led a discussion of campaign issues and criticized the Democratic Party for raising the sales tax, the saving and loan scandal and the party's failure to keep its past election promises. He also was strongly critical of the AFL-CIO labor endorsement of Gov. Tawes whom they had opposed in the primary election.

A movie, "Accepting the Challenge," featuring former President Eisenhower also was shown and discussed. Four new members were welcomed into the club and all the local GOP candidates were introduced.

Musical Therapy

Lawrence J. Griffith, 54, local piano sales representative and technician whose chief interest in life always has been music, thought his days at the keyboard were over when his left elbow was shattered in an auto accident August 28. He's shown using the organ in the chapel at Sacred Heart Hospital, which his doctor and the hospital administrator encouraged him to do to keep his fingers supple even though the arm is in a heavy cast. Now he's "playing" himself into a positive frame of mind and rapid physical improvement as well.

County Taxes Yield $125,394 During August

Some $125,394.86 in Allegany County real estate and personal property taxes was collected in August in the office of County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff to bring the three-month yield since June 1 to $3,048,152.84.

That total is 97.9 per cent of the $3,103,350 anticipated by the Board of County Commissioners in the entire fiscal year when the county levy list was approved last April.

After three months, the tax collections this year are running $189,206.05 below the $3,237,358.89 collected in the same three discount months a year ago.

Of course the tax rate this year is only $1.85 compared with $2.10 last year on each $100 of assessed property. The county commissioners are anticipating collecting some $365,650 less than last year with this lower rate despite some increase in the assessable basis.

As itemized in Mr. Orndorff's office at the Court House, the August collections included $103,462.78 from real estate, $21,852.08 from corporations and $80 in trailer arrival taxes.

Mr. Orndorff's office also collected considerable money last month for the four special taxing areas of the county. Included was $1,645.83 for LaVale, $279.57 for Cresaptown, $71.97 for Potomac Park and $54.58 for Mt. Savage.

Also collected in August was $27,714.59 in state taxes. This included $8,949.01 from real estate and $18,765.58 from corporations.

The August yield also included $3,972.09 in 1961 county taxes.

Monthly totals for the past three months as compared with collections of the same month last year, listed first in each case:

June — $2,966,246.29 and $2,803,842.42; July — $139,669.05 and $118,915.56; August — $131,443.55 and $125,394.86.

15 Register For Voting

Voter registration continued to lag yesterday as only 15 prospective new voters, 10 Democrats and five Republicans, signed up with the touring substitute registrars for the Allegany County Board of Election Supervisors.

At Oldtown yesterday afternoon, Francis Thompson, Democrat, and Charles Llewellyn, Republican, registered nine Democrats and two Republicans. Last night at North Branch they could add only three Republicans and one Democrat.

Today they will sit at the Cresaptown School from 2 until 5 p.m. and again from 6 until 9 p.m. Saturday they will be at the Bedford Road Fire Hall from 2 until 5 p.m. and at the Baltimore Pike Fire Hall from 6 until 9 p.m.

Meanwhile, John R. Kelly and Irvin J. Neat, the regular registrars at the board's office in the Court House basement, are on duty from 8:30 a.m. until noon and from 1 until 4 p.m. Monday through Friday.

Monday, September 24, is the last day for registration in order to vote in the November 6 state and county election.

Journalism Hall Of Fame Plans Begin At Gathland

Will Be Monument To World's Free Press

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Plans for the National Journalism Hall of Fame were accepted Thursday on behalf of all newsmen and newswomen by Oliver S. Gramling, assistant general manager of the Associated Press.

The plans were unveiled in ceremonies at nearby Gathland State Park by Gov. Tawes of Maryland, and then presented to Gramling.

The proposed hall of fame, a monument to the free press, comprises a low-roofed, circular structure over which towers a stylized world globe.

Near where the hall of fame will be built is a fieldstone arch erected in 1896 as a memorial to the 157 correspondents and artists who covered the Civil War.

The arch was erected by George Alfred Townsend, who used the pen name Gath in his Civil War dispatches to the New York Herald Tribune.

Gramling told some 500 persons attending the ceremonies that the hall of fame "will stand as a lasting tribute not only to those who worked past wars but to those who will suffer through new ones."

Profession Represented

Representatives of several journalism organizations attended the ceremonies.

Among them were Newbold Noyes of Washington, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors; Max Thomas and Theodore Serill, vice president and executive director, respectively, of the National Editorial Association; Cranston Williams of Lynchburg, Va., president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association; R. K T.. Larson of Norfolk, Va., representing Sigma Delta Chi; Mrs. Georgia Hadin of Washington, representing Theta Sigma Phi, and John Cosgrove of Washington, representing the National Press Club.

Besides Gramling and Tawes, speakers were Judge Edward Delaplaine of the Maryland Court of Appeals; Franklin D. Schurz Jr., publisher of the Hagerstown Herald-Mail; Neil H. Swanson of the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American, and E. Ralph Hostetter, president of the Maryland-Delaware Press Association.

Townsend Praised

Judge Delaplaine outlined Townsend's Civil War career, and how the New York Herald Tribune writer happened to decide upon South Mountain as the site for the memorial arch.

Schurz noted that Townsend changed his plans for the arch after a visit to Hagerstown, where he saw an old fire station being built of fieldstone.

Swanson said Townsend had defined newspaper work as a disease.

"But a disease in character was Townsend's zest for life and the tenets of his profession," Swanson said.

The News-Post columnist described the difficulties he had in news from generals and politicians 100 years ago. "Much of the same continues today in some places," said Swanson, who cited "the many diverse reports" emanating from the conflict in Laos.

Near Museum

The proposed hall of fame, nestled in the foothills of South Mountain, will be near a Civil War museum, camping and picnic areas and will overlook the site of the Civil War Battle of Antietam.

The futuristic building also will provide a view of Harpers Ferry, W. Va., the town which changed hands so often during the Civil War.

The globe portion of the monument, as shown on the artist's conception, will feature the illuminated maps of all nations which have a free press. Countries without a free press are represented opaquely on the globe.

The National Park Service, the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks and the Maryland-Delaware Press Association have joined forces in planning the memorial.

Men Of Emmanuel Will Attend Communion Sunday

The Men of Emmanuel will begin their fall activities with a corporate Communion and breakfast Sunday at 8 a. m. at Emmanuel Episcopal Church.

It will be the first quarterly meeting of the Men of Emmanuel under their new president, Garland L. Chaney, who was elected in June.

Rev. H. M. Richardson, rector of Emmanuel, will be the speaker.

Report Shows One-Sixth Of Levy Collected

A report on the condition of the levy for the City of Cumberland as of August 31 prepared by City Comptroller Paul E. Rodecap shows that the total collections during the first two months of the fiscal year were $343,733.87 of the $1,991,120 levy.

A $236,000 surplus used to start off the fiscal year was the top item. Other sizable city income sources were $95,000, the city's share of state gas and auto tax with $34,117.76 received, and $25,000 of state racing income, of which $19,232.90 has been received.

During the two month period $6,127.72 was collected on the $1,345,790 tax levy which represents "early bird" payments. City tax bills are being prepared now for mailing by September 20.

The report, prepared for the guidance of department heads, shows that during July and August various city departments spent $256,943.90, or about 15 per cent of $1,719,690.50 set aside for city operations.

Expenditures include $247.67 for civil defense from an appropriation of $3,500, leaving a balance of $3,252.33. The engineering department spent $7,083.92 of its appropriation of $44,000, leaving a balance of $36,916.08 and the fire department used $55,589.20 of $319,000 appropriated, leaving a balance of $263,410.80.

A total of $4,051.81 from an appropriation of $34,600 was spent on flood project maintenance, leaving a balance of $30,548.19. The report showed expenditure of $7,011.29 for Constitution Park from an appropriation of $28,000, leaving a balance of $20,988.71.

The police department showed expenditures of $56,023.62 of its $320,700 appropriation and the police pension fund used $1,324.47 of a $19,000 appropriation.

The recreation department spent $17,607.55 of its $47,000 appropriation, leaving a balance of $29,392.45.

A total of $32,632.92 from an appropriation of $185,000 was spent for streets and alleys and $11,543.81 of an appropriation of $62,800 was spent for street and alley paving. Also spent was $9,058.30 from an appropriation of $73,000 for street cleaning.

Land Swap Proposed

NAGS HEAD, N. C. (AP) — The state of North Carolina suggested Thursday the possibility of a timberland swap with a paper company to help the Air Force find a bombing range.

Rep. David Henderson, D-N.C., in a telegram from his Washington office, said that Robert L. Stallings Jr., director of the Department of Conservation and Development, offered an exchange of land with the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. if the state could find land for the trade.

The Air Force is seeking an east coast bombing range near Lake Phelps or east of Lake Mattamuskeet in northeastern North Carolina. The Lake Phelps area would include 6,000 to 12,000 acres owned by West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co.

However, because of a danger of forest fires, the West Virginia company is opposing the range on its property, and various groups have opposed other sites suggested by the state.

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. officials conducted newsmen on a tour of their property near here Wednesday and said they fear that a bombing range would pose a threat of forest fires to their timber operations in Dare and Tyrrell counties.

State Educators Favor Instruction On Marxism

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Board of Education adopted unanimously Thursday a policy statement urging Maryland public schools to include in their courses of instruction information about communism and other totalitarian ideologies.

The board, in its statement, said teachers should present "factual, authentic and objective" information on such ideologies.

The board said that both laymen and educators in Maryland have "become increasingly aware of the urgency of giving specific emphasis to meeting the challenge of communism and similar totalitarian ideologies through education.

The policy statement was presented to the board by the special State Communism on Americanism. The commission had been appointed last March by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools.

The board said the policy statement was designed to reinforce teachers in the classroom who teach about communism. The board said such teaching had virtually vanished since the senate hearings conducted some years ago by the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

Conservation Ideas Need Scientific Fact For Base

Public attitudes about conservation are swinging away from the sentimental toward the scientific and as a result some improved conservation practices are evolving.

That was the view expressed yesterday by Paul C. Herndon, conservation education specialist for the Natural Resources Institute of the University of Maryland, in a talk at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club in Central YMCA.

The Natural Resources Institute now has a Western Maryland office at 22 National Highway in Narrows Park. Mr. Herndon, a native of Nashville, Tenn., has been connected with the office here since last November.

Mr. Herndon traced the start of serious thinking about conservation back to the early years of the 20th century when Theodore Roosevelt was President of the United States.

Although much good came from the efforts at this time, many of the ideas developed along sentimental lines rather than based on scientific knowledge. Some of these ideas about conservation, which simply speaking, is wise use of natural resources, have developed as "sacred cows."

For instance, there was a time when it was considered bad conservation to cut a single tree. Through scientific planning today, some forest timber can be cut for use as lumber while other is allowed to grow to provide shade and to hold the soil on the land.

The office of the Natural Resources Institute here has three specialists, one for game, one for fish and one for forestry. He described much of their research as keyed to the "ivory tower" approach but predicted that much good will result if the public can be brought to realize that scientific fact should be the basis for progress.

S. Cumberland Democrats Open Headquarters

About 100 Democrats converged at 12 Mary Street in South Cumberland last night for the opening of a neighborhood headquarters there to assist all Democratic candidates.

Some 10 or 12 of the county Democratic candidates were on hand for the opening last night at 8 o'clock.

Among those instrumental in the start of the new headquarters are Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ritter, Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Cain, Opal Rowan and Helen Combs.

Audition Change Listed By Army

A change in preliminary auditions for persons desiring to enlist for an Army Band has been put into effect at Second Army Recruiting District, Ft. George G. Meade.

Under the new plan, auditions may be held in the area of the prospective band enlistee. A tape recording of the audition will be sent to the Commander of Second Army Band for preview. If the audition is found to be of satisfactory quality, arrangement will be made to visit the area and personally audition the applicant.

In the past, a prospective band member had to go to Fort Meade for an audition at his own expense.

Additional information can be obtained by contacting Sgt. Jack Wheeler, local Army recruiter, Room 302, Post Office Building, or 722-6600.

Church Given Board Approval For Building

Officials of Pleasant Grove Methodist Church, located between the two segments of divided U. S. Route 40 some three-and-one half miles east of Cumberland, received verbal approval from the Allegany County Board of Appeals yesterday afternoon to continue with plans for construction of a $10,000 addition to the church.

The zoning appeals board conducted a public hearing yesterday afternoon at the Court House on the church's application for a variance from the setback requirements of the county's interim zoning ordinance.

The ordinance provides for a 60-foot setback from the highway. The proposed addition to the white frame church would move the building to within 44 feet of the base line of the right-of-way for west-bound traffic.

A four-room addition, measuring 38 feet by 22 feet eight inches, is proposed by the church. It would be used primarily for Sunday School purposes.

Attending the hearing were Rev. Paul R. O'Brien, pastor of the church; Harold S. Fisher, chairman of the Board of Trustees, and Earl E. Manges, local attorney, who represented the church in the proceedings. There was no opposition.

Everett G. Partridge, chairman of the board, said that a written opinion will be filed later amplifying the board's verbal approval of the variance. Wilbur Johnson and Ralph C. Cover are the other two members of the board.

County Taxes Yield $125,394 During August

Some $125,394.86 in Allegany County real estate and personal property taxes was collected in August in the office of County Tax Collector William B. Orndorff to bring the three-month yield since June 1 to $3,048,152.84.

That total is 97.9 per cent of the $3,103,350 anticipated by the Board of County Commissioners in the entire fiscal year when the county levy list was approved last April.

After three months, the tax collections this year are running $189,206.05 below the $3,237,358.89 collected in the same three discount months a year ago.

Of course the tax rate this year is only $1.85 compared with $2.10 last year on each $100 of assessed property. The county commissioners are anticipating collecting some $365,650 less than last year with this lower rate despite some increase in the assessable basis.

As itemized in Mr. Orndorff's office at the Court House, the August collections included $103,462.78 from real estate, $21,852.08 from corporations and $80 in trailer arrival taxes.

Mr. Orndorff's office also collected considerable money last month for the four special taxing areas of the county. Included was $1,645.83 for LaVale, $279.57 for Cresaptown, $71.97 for Potomac Park and $54.58 for Mt. Savage.

Also collected in August was $27,714.59 in state taxes. This included $8,949.01 from real estate and $18,765.58 from corporations.

The August yield also included $3,972.09 in 1961 county taxes.

Monthly totals for the past three months as compared with collections of the same month last year, listed first in each case:

June — $2,966,246.29 and $2,803,842.42; July — $139,669.05 and $118,915.56; August — $131,443.55 and $125,394.86.

Journalism Hall Of Fame Plans Begin At Gathland

Will Be Monument To World's Free Press

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — Plans for the National Journalism Hall of Fame were accepted Thursday on behalf of all newsmen and newswomen by Oliver S. Gramling, assistant general manager of the Associated Press.

The plans were unveiled in ceremonies at nearby Gathland State Park by Gov. Tawes of Maryland, and then presented to Gramling.

The proposed hall of fame, a monument to the free press, comprises a low-roofed, circular structure over which towers a stylized world globe.

Near where the hall of fame will be built is a fieldstone arch erected in 1896 as a memorial to the 157 correspondents and artists who covered the Civil War.

The arch was erected by George Alfred Townsend, who used the pen name Gath in his Civil War dispatches to the New York Herald Tribune.

Gramling told some 500 persons attending the ceremonies that the hall of fame "will stand as a lasting tribute not only to those who worked past wars but to those who will suffer through new ones."

Profession Represented

Representatives of several journalism organizations attended the ceremonies.

Among them were Newbold Noyes of Washington, president of the American Society of Newspaper Editors; Max Thomas and Theodore Serill, vice president and executive director, respectively, of the National Editorial Association; Cranston Williams of Lynchburg, Va., president of the American Newspaper Publishers Association; R. K T.. Larson of Norfolk, Va., representing Sigma Delta Chi; Mrs. Georgia Hadin of Washington, representing Theta Sigma Phi, and John Cosgrove of Washington, representing the National Press Club.

Besides Gramling and Tawes, speakers were Judge Edward Delaplaine of the Maryland Court of Appeals; Franklin D. Schurz Jr., publisher of the Hagerstown Herald-Mail; Neil H. Swanson of the Baltimore News-Post and Sunday American, and E. Ralph Hostetter, president of the Maryland-Delaware Press Association.

Townsend Praised

Judge Delaplaine outlined Townsend's Civil War career, and how the New York Herald Tribune writer happened to decide upon South Mountain as the site for the memorial arch.

Schurz noted that Townsend changed his plans for the arch after a visit to Hagerstown, where he saw an old fire station being built of fieldstone.

Swanson said Townsend had defined newspaper work as a disease.

"But a disease in character was Townsend's zest for life and the tenets of his profession," Swanson said.

The News-Post columnist described the difficulties he had in news from generals and politicians 100 years ago. "Much of the same continues today in some places," said Swanson, who cited "the many diverse reports" emanating from the conflict in Laos.

Near Museum

The proposed hall of fame, nestled in the foothills of South Mountain, will be near a Civil War museum, camping and picnic areas and will overlook the site of the Civil War Battle of Antietam.

The futuristic building also will provide a view of Harpers Ferry, W. Va., the town which changed hands so often during the Civil War.

The globe portion of the monument, as shown on the artist's conception, will feature the illuminated maps of all nations which have a free press. Countries without a free press are represented opaquely on the globe.

The National Park Service, the Maryland Department of Forests and Parks and the Maryland-Delaware Press Association have joined forces in planning the memorial.

The report, prepared for the guidance of department heads, shows that during July and August various city departments spent $256,943.90, or about 15 per cent of $1,719,690.50 set aside for city operations.

Expenditures include $247.67 for civil defense from an appropriation of $3,500, leaving a balance of $3,252.33. Land Swap Proposed

NAGS HEAD, N. C. (AP) — The state of North Carolina suggested Thursday the possibility of a timberland swap with a paper company to help the Air Force find a bombing range.

Rep. David Henderson, D-N.C., in a telegram from his Washington office, said that Robert L. Stallings Jr., director of the Department of Conservation and Development, offered an exchange of land with the West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. if the state could find land for the trade.

The Air Force is seeking an east coast bombing range near Lake Phelps or east of Lake Mattamuskeet in northeastern North Carolina. The Lake Phelps area would include 6,000 to 12,000 acres owned by West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co.

However, because of a danger of forest fires, the West Virginia company is opposing the range on its property, and various groups have opposed other sites suggested by the state.

West Virginia Pulp and Paper Co. officials conducted newsmen on a tour of their property near here Wednesday and said they fear that a bombing range would pose a threat of forest fires to their timber operations in Dare and Tyrrell counties.

State Educators Favor Instruction On Marxism

BALTIMORE (AP) — The State Board of Education adopted unanimously Thursday a policy statement urging Maryland public schools to include in their courses of instruction information about communism and other totalitarian ideologies.

The board, in its statement, said teachers should present "factual, authentic and objective" information on such ideologies.

The board said that both laymen and educators in Maryland have "become increasingly aware of the urgency of giving specific emphasis to meeting the challenge of communism and similar totalitarian ideologies through education.

The policy statement was presented to the board by the special State Communism on Americanism. The commission had been appointed last March by Dr. Thomas G. Pullen Jr., state superintendent of schools.

The board said the policy statement was designed to reinforce teachers in the classroom who teach about communism. The board said such teaching had virtually vanished since the senate hearings conducted some years ago by the late Sen. Joseph McCarthy.

Conservation Ideas Need Scientific Fact For Base

Public attitudes about conservation are swinging away from the sentimental toward the scientific and as a result some improved conservation practices are evolving.

That was the view expressed yesterday by Paul C. Herndon, conservation education specialist for the Natural Resources Institute of the University of Maryland, in a talk at the weekly meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club in Central YMCA.

The Natural Resources Institute now has a Western Maryland office at 22 National Highway in Narrows Park. Mr. Herndon, a native of Nashville, Tenn., has been connected with the office here since last November.

Mr. Herndon traced the start of serious thinking about conservation back to the early years of the 20th century when Theodore Roosevelt was President of the United States.

Although much good came from the efforts at this time, many of the ideas developed along sentimental lines rather than based on scientific knowledge. Some of these ideas about conservation, which simply speaking, is wise use of natural resources, have developed as "sacred cows."

For instance, there was a time when it was considered bad conservation to cut a single tree. Through scientific planning today, some forest timber can be cut for use as lumber while other is allowed to grow to provide shade and to hold the soil on the land.

The office of the Natural Resources Institute here has three specialists, one for game, one for fish and one for forestry. He described much of their research as keyed to the "ivory tower" approach but predicted that much good will result if the public can be brought to realize that scientific fact should be the basis for progress.

Church Given Board Approval For Building

Officials of Pleasant Grove Methodist Church, located between the two segments of divided U. S. Route 40 some three-and-one half miles east of Cumberland, received verbal approval from the Allegany County Board of Appeals yesterday afternoon to continue with plans for construction of a $10,000 addition to the church.

The zoning appeals board conducted a public hearing yesterday afternoon at the Court House on the church's application for a variance from the setback requirements of the county's interim zoning ordinance.

The ordinance provides for a 60-foot setback from the highway. The proposed addition to the white frame church would move the building to within 44 feet of the base line of the right-of-way for west-bound traffic.

A four-room addition, measuring 38 feet by 22 feet eight inches, is proposed by the church. It would be used primarily for Sunday School purposes.

Attending the hearing were Rev. Paul R. O'Brien, pastor of the church; Harold S. Fisher, chairman of the Board of Trustees, and Earl E. Manges, local attorney, who represented the church in the proceedings. There was no opposition.

Everett G. Partridge, chairman of the board, said that a written opinion will be filed later amplifying the board's verbal approval of the variance. Wilbur Johnson and Ralph C. Cover are the other two members of the board.
